ELABORATE SOCIAL GIVEN BY LADIES AID COMMITTEE

Lecture Room of M. E. Church Beautifully Decorated for the Occasion

The Ladies Aid Social given in the M. E. Church Monday evening, was one of the best of these occasions yet held by that Society. The lecture room was well filled with members and friends who enjoyed the pleasing program.

The main feature of the evening was the beautiful decorations. The entire room was trimmed with autumn foliage and berries, pumpkins and ears of yellow corn, artistically arranged, creating an atmosphere in keeping with the "Hallowe'en—Thanksgiving" season. It was, no doubt, one of the most elaborate decorations yet seen in the church.

The program was as follows: Singing—Hymn, "Art Thou Telling" Prayer, Mrs. Jennie V. Mathis, President of the Society.

Duet—Elizabeth Darby and Dorothy Fox. Recitation—Katherine Kumpf Drill—Eight girls Solo—Alice Darby Play—"Meeting of the Months" Piano Duet—Mrs. Charles H. Webb and Mrs. Elton Cranmer.

Refreshments consisting of homemade cake and ice cream followed the program.

The following ladies composed the committee in charge: Mrs. Orlanda Darby, Mrs. J. W. Horner, Mrs. W. I. Smith, Mrs. W. Howard Kelley, Mrs. Newell Seaman, Mrs. M. E. Burton, Mrs. C. Harvey Smith, Mrs. Jas. Marshall, Mrs. William Falkenburg, and Mrs. Henry Kumpf.

COUNTERFEIT $10 AND $20 BILLS ABOUT

It is said that spurious ten and twenty dollar bills are in circulation, and storekeepers, clerks, and cashiers are warned to be careful in handling money of these denominations.

The "phony" notes are made of genuine two and five dollar bills which have been raised to $10 and $20 respectively. The change has been made by superimposing "10" and "20" numerals over the original numbers, and by placing the words "five" and "twenty" over the words denoting the denomination of the bill.

The counterfeiting has not been skillfully done, and is not difficult to detect if watched carefully. The little extra thickness at each corner of the bills where the new figures have been pasted on, can be detected with the exercise of care.

JUDGE JEFFREY HOLDS NATURALIZATION COURT

Toms River, Nov. 10.—Judge W. H. Jeffrey conducted Naturalization Court last Friday, with 3 applicants, seven of whom were admitted to citizenship. He was advised to make out new papers and again appear before the Court.

The other applicants include Ernest M. Graul, a German subject residing in Lakewood; Adolph Ehrens, German, Waretown; Rudolph Opperman, German, Lakewood; Walter G. Weston, English, Lakewood; August Santonio, Lakewood; Robert J. L. BEACHWOOD ORGANIZES ROD AND GUN CLUB

Men of Beachwood have organized a Rod and Gun Club, and will erect a big club house on Jake's branch, southeast of that resort, building a dam and forming a lake. The site for the club house has been selected; and it is expected work will begin on it immediately.

The idea of a club for the men of Beachwood originated at a dinner given at the resort last week, at which Mayor Joseph H. Senior presided.

Officers were elected and the club will be incorporated with these officers: President, A. D. Nickerson; vice president, F. W. Goodrich; secretary, Frank McGrath; treasurer, Henry Edwards. The initiation fee has been fixed at $5, and the charter will remain open until March, when the fee will be advanced to $10.

CRANBERRY-GROWERS SENDING STOCK WEST

Jersey growers are cleaning and packing cranberries in all haste and rushing them to the middle west and further west for the Thanksgiving market. The demand in the middle west, where there is plenty of beet sugar and no shortage, is good and will take all the berries the growers can get out there in time for the Thanksgiving trade. In eastern cities, where sugar is scarce or held so that it is hard to get, the cranberry market has been hit bad. New York, Philadelphia and Boston are generally considered the three big cities for cranberry sales, but the market in these cities is all undermined by the sugar shortage.

Jersey berries are bringing about $7.50 a barrel at the present time. It looks now as if the entire crop would be worked off at fair prices, but with no fancy prices such as a few berries brought last winter.

GAS COMPANY GETS INCREASE OF 15 CENTS PER THOUSAND

The state Public Utility Commission has given the Ocean County Gas Company and increase of 15 cents per thousand cubic feet. The rate at present is $1.55, with 5 cents per thousand off for cash payment, and a service charge of 25 cents per month.

The Gas Company asked for $2.05 per thousand, with the same discount and same service charge. This is the third increase in rates the company has been allowed in less than a year and a half. The company was also allowed to increase its charge to the Tuckerton Gas Co., for gas in bulk to $1.45 per thousand feet. No increase for street lighting was allowed.

The Utility Board decided not to enforce for the present its ruling made last spring that the company must install a new holder capable of containing 100,000 cubic feet of gas. The latter will be held in abeyance till May 25, 1920.

Under the new rate of $1.70, the service charge is maintained, and the discount of five cents per thousand for payment by the tenth of the month is allowed the consumer. In arriving at its conclusions as to rates, the Utility Board allows the Gas Company an investment of $178,000; the company claims an investment of something over $250,000. The Utility Board also refused to allow the company to increase its amortization charge and its transmission and distribution charges this year to an amount much larger as compared with previous years. By this method the figure of $1.70 instead of $2.05 was reached.

The Tuckerton Gas Company was also allowed an increase of rates to its customers.

THIS YEAR'S BEST VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Treated Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard something about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel like I can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. W. G. ... 242 North Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headache, backache, indigestion, depression, and even many serious ailments develop. "All's Well That Ends Well"

By LILIAN HALL CROWLEY

(Copyright, 1924, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Come, girls," called Mrs. Stevens from the next room; "we shall be late for the train."

"In a minute," May has to put in another halpint; answered two joyous young voices. The girls then hurried to join their waiting chaperon.

A taxi was waiting at the entrance to the hotel, into which they piled and were furiously driven to the station where they were to take the train. They had finished a three-days' sight-seeing visit in the national capital, and were on their way to Annapolis to attend the January hop at the Naval Academy.

May Withers, who was engaged to Midshipman Roy Bloomer, had persuaded Jean Stevens and her mother to go with her. Both girls were attending college, and this was holiday time. May intended finishing her college course the following June, and Roy would graduate the same month. Then they were to be married.

"You'll like Roy's chum, Philip Carson, Jean. Roy says he's a shark for study—like yourself—bones up on literature and writes verse. You two ought to get on splendidly. I'll let him know that you're the high-brow of our class."

"I wanted to meet him because he is Roy's friend, but now I want to meet him for himself," said Jean.

"I don't see how he and Roy became roommates, because old Roy never reads a book unless he has to. We're alike, there."

When they arrived at the station in Annapolis, Mrs. Stevens called a rickety old carriage that had two listless horses and a fat driver. They smiled along Maryland avenue until they came to their hotel, a large white building in the center of the town.

For dinner they had some of the famous Maryland soft-shell crabs, and then went into the parlor to wait for the "boys."

Presently May was introducing Roy Bloomer and his friend, Philip Carson. This was the ladies' first visit to Annapolis.

They soon exhausted all the small talk, and Miss Stevens suggested a walk. She would write letters while waiting them. She was repaid for her thoughtfulness with the joy she saw in the faces of the lovers.

Later when they all came in Roy and May were blissfully happy. No one could mistake the fact that they were genuinely in love. Philip looked politely bored.

"Oh, Jean, I made a mistake about Phil being a student of literature. He's an athlete and never reads. I have confused his name with that of another fellow Roy wrote me about."

"Well," exclaimed Jean, "that's why we didn't hit it off. I bronched every subject I thought he would like—not that I cared myself, for I would rather have talked about this quaint old town. What must he think of me?"

"What did you say to him?"

"I started out on the technique of the short story of today in comparison with the long-drawn-out stories of Richardson; the father of the English novel."

"Heavens!" exclaimed May, while Mrs. Stevens repressed a smile. "He didn't know what you were talking about. I'm sorry for my sake, Jean. What else did you say?"

"When he didn't respond, I thought: 'He doesn't care to be serious tonight.' I told him a joke, and he didn't even smile."

"What joke did you tell him?"

"That extremely funny one about the New York publisher, who, on his first visit to England, asked Herbert Spencer to give him the sole right to the 'Faerie Queen.'"

"How could he laugh at that? There's nothing funny about it, is there?"

"Perhaps not," Jean answered wearily.

"Never mind, dear," said her mother. "It often happens that the most admirable people cannot be congenial. Remember, there is the dance tomorrow night."

"Phil Carson has missed a lot!" exclaimed May, "because you're the dearest and sweetest thing that ever lived. Present company not excepted."

Next evening the two midshipmen were at the door of the gymnasium, where the balls are held, when the girls arrived with Mrs. Stevens. Their progress had been filled by their escorts' bows, as was the custom.

Roy said: "Phil and I are sorry about Billy Westerman. We wanted you to know him, but he's so popular that all his dances were taken before we knew you were coming."

"Who is he?" asked May.

"He's the fellow I wrote you about—the shark of the class—writes verse."

Decalogue for Frugality Seen

Drawn by National Committee for 1920 Drive Against High Living Costs.

MAKE A BUDGET, COMES FIRST

Keep Tab on Expenditures Have a Bank Account, Spend Less Than You Earn, Are Other Commandments.

St. Louis.—Ten commandments for the guidance of a man's financial life have been drawn up by a national committee of bankers and others to aid in the great drive of 1920 against the cohorts of high cost of living.

This decalogue for the frugal man to stiffen his morale in a battle to save something from the profiteers and rent raisers is part of the program for the National Thrift week, to begin January 17 next.

Plans for rallying the armies of money savers for the 1920 drive by holding this Thrift week were approved by the American Bankers' association in its recent convention in this city. The idea already had the endorsement of the United States League of Building and Loan Associations, National Federation of Construction Industries, Retail Credit Men's association, National Association of Life Insurance Underwriters, National Credit Men's association, and other national bodies.

"Make a Budget," One Commandment.

The ten commandments as recommended by Walter W. Head of Omaha, vice president of the National bank section of the American Bankers' association, are:

1. Make a budget.
2. Keep an intelligent record of expenditures.
3. Have a bank account.
4. Carry life insurance.
5. Make a will.
6. Own your home eventually.
7. Pay your bills promptly.
8. Invest in War Savings stamps and other government securities.
9. Spend less than you earn.
10. Share with others. Thrift without benevolence is a doubtful blessing.

The eight days of the National Thrift week have been named after some points of the financial creed, as follows:

Saturday, January 17—"Bank day" or "National Thrift day," to emphasize the need for individual thrift and the service a bank renders a community.

Sunday, January 18—"Thrift Sunday," with sermons in all American pulpits on the relation of economic life to religious well-being and the need of sharing with others.

Monday, January 19—"National Insurance day," to stress the need of protecting one's family.

Tuesday, January 20—"Own Your Home day," to show why it is desirable and how it is possible to own your own home.

Wednesday, January 21—"Make a Will day," to urge men to make wills.

Thursday, January 22—"Thrift in Industry day," to advocate factory thrift and co-operation between capital and labor.

Friday, January 23—"Family Budget day."

Saturday, January 24—"Pay Your Bills day."

Supporting this movement in an address to the bankers in their convention here, Arthur M. East of New York, national director of the Thrift week movement, said:

"Financial and industrial leaders are interested in the increased cost of living because they know that in most cases the bill for the increased cost is handed by the worker to the em-

Denmark's Flag

The flag of Denmark, a plain red banner, bearing on it a white cross, is the oldest flag now in existence. For more than 500 years both Norway and Sweden were united with Denmark under this flag. In the year 1212 King Waldemar of Denmark, when leading his troops to battle against the Livonians, carried on his banner a white cross in the form of a cross in the sky. He held this appearance to be a promise of divine aid, and pressed forward to victory. From this time he had the cross placed on the flag of his country and called it the Dannebrog—that is, the strength of Denmark.—Indianapolis News.

MANY CASES DISPOSED OF Disabled Men Are Being Placed in Training as Rapidly as Possible.

One of the most urgent problems before the federal board for vocational education has been to establish contact with men discharged from service, so as to ascertain those whose disabilities would place them in the group needing vocational training. A most persistent effort was made by the board to this purpose. Demobilization points, hospitals, camps, returning transports and detention centers were constantly visited by representatives of the board, until thousands of men were registered as possible candidates for re-education.

Individuality is necessarily one of the important elements in the re-education of disabled soldiers. Each man is a distinct problem; they cannot be disposed of by groups or battalions. Vocational advisers personally interview each soldier, sailor or aviator to apply for retraining;

WHITE PLAGUE IN BALKANS

Tuberculosis Death Rate There the Highest in the World, Says Red Cross.

Bucharest.—The tuberculosis death rate in the Balkans is the highest in the world, asserts the medical staff of the American Red Cross headquarters here. This is based on reports from Red Cross workers in Romania, Serbia, Albania, and Montenegro.

The distressing factor is that the countries are almost wholly without sanitariums for the treatment of tuberculosis. Red Cross relief is temporary, and it is considered beyond the province to found sanitariums on the scale that would be needed.

Miss Viola L. Nohr of Ripon, Wis., a nurse, who for many months has been treating patients in all parts of Albania, reports that she found tuberculosis in almost every Albanian family. The percentage has been placed at about 80 per cent.

Ancient Athens Earliest Republic Known in History

Ancient Athens was the earliest republic known in history, but there may have been earlier ones. When white men first came to America they found Indian tribes that were democracies governed by an elected chief who was responsible to the tribe council of braves. Of republics now existing, the oldest is San Marino, a tiny country wholly surrounded by Italy and situated near the Adriatic coast. This little republic is said to date from the fourth century A. D. Of the great republics our own is the greatest and has remained longest continuously under a republican form of government.

Indian Summer Applies to Fine Autumn Weather

Indian summer is a term loosely applied to any period of exceptionally fine weather occurring during October or November, but the weight of authority seems to place it in November. According to one tradition of the Indians "they always had a second summer of nine days just before winter set in," which would indicate November. Indian summer in North America corresponds to a similar season prevailing during the late autumn in England and the Mediterranean countries, called St. Martin's summer, from St. Martin's festival, which falls on November 11.

Learns at 70 Two Can't Live Cheaper Than One

Santa Rosa.—"You can't beat this high cost of living now," says John Borquez, seventy years old, who on September 8 married Adeline Young, aged sixty-four, keeper of a boarding house, on the theory that two could live cheaper than one. They agreed to divide the proceeds from the boarding house. Borquez asked for his share of the profits. The thrifty bride refused and started for the bank to deposit the coin. Borquez went to the newspapers and had inserted a notice that he had left his bride and would not be responsible for any debts contracted by her.

Captain Matlack Knows No Fear

Daring Cavalry Leader is Terror to Bandits on Mexican Border.

ANSWERS THREAT WITH SHOT

Ability for Coping With Banditry Led to Speedy Promotion From Sergeant to Captain During Four Years.

San Antonio, Tex.—Capt. Leonard J. Matlack, commander of Company K, Eighth United States Cavalry, is today the most feared American that Mexican bandits have encountered on the Texas border. He is feared more than the Texas rangers, who for years were the only official guardians of the peace in that remote country. His men are of the fighting, daring type, but Captain Matlack's desire to go it alone when handling difficult situations has struck terror to the hearts of Mexican evildoers who are learning not to commit offenses in country where he is known to be stationed.

When Captain Matlack went to Candalaria, Tex., four years ago, he was a sergeant. He took station with his company at a small, isolated community on the banks of the Rio Grande. They soon found themselves in a hotbed of banditry, which Matlack determined must be cleared.

Republic, Kan.—The streets of this town are unsafe for pedestrians after dark on account of the nightly battles between large flocks of owls. Remaining in the trees during the day, they swarm about like locusts at night and have become so numerous and vicious that they attack human beings. It is unsafe for women and children to venture out after dark.

In several instances persons have been struck on the head and rendered unconscious. One woman was painfully hurt by a direct attack from an owl which she had tried to ward off with an umbrella.

"Burned out. Slept only six hours a night."

The children agreed that they did. "And now," she smiled encouragingly, "what do women's voices make you think of?"

BUCKWHEAT CROP VERY IMPORTANT

Of Particular Benefit to Thin Soils Where Climatic Conditions Are Favorable.

EXCELLENT CROP ON OLD SOIL

Because it makes dense growth, keeping land shaded, it is valuable for eradication of Quack Grass and other weeds.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Buckwheat has a definite place in American agriculture, limited when compared to the staple crops, but none the less important in a large area of the country. While less exacting as to soil than almost any other crop, it is more exacting as to climate. Therefore, its principal production is confined to the northeastern portion of the country and to high altitudes farther south. However, buckwheat can be grown with at least fair success over a much wider range, according to Farmers' Bulletin 1002, recently issued.

Benefits of Buckwheat. Buckwheat, according to the bulletin, is in general the best grain crop for poor, thin land, and succeeds well on acid soils, climatic conditions being favorable. It is a good crop on new land and on old soil land being again brought under the plow. It loosens and makes friable even the hardest soil, and therefore is a good

Heat Is Supplied by Manure Arranged in Box Through Which Coil of Pipe Runs.

The arrangement illustrated will be found to have considerable effect in keeping from freezing the water in a trough on the farm. The part of the pipe which is covered with manure is heated, and then water flows upward, cold water being then drawn in through the lower pipe. The effect will, of course, be much greater if a coil of pipe is imbedded in the manure.

Useful in Rotations.

Buckwheat is less frequently used in rotations than most other crops, but it is pointed out that good rotations may be devised for soil that is too poor for most accepted rotations. One of the suggested rotations is alsike or crimson clover the first year, buckwheat the second year, potatoes the third year, and rye, oats, or wheat seeded to clover, the fourth year. There is a discussion of the varieties of buckwheat, seed preparation, time of sowing, methods and rate of sowing, fertilizers needed, diseases and insect enemies, harvesting, thrashing, milling, and uses.

HANDLE APRICOT LIKE PEACH

Seedlings Are More Hardy and Productive Than Those Budded, but Fruit Is Poorer.

Apricots are nearly always budded on plum stocks. Sometimes they are budded on the peach. It is said that the apricot stocks are not as good as either the peach or plum, especially on land that is apt to be wet in the spring. Seedling apricots are usually more hardy and productive than those that have been budded but the fruit is not of as good quality. Seedlings would not likely produce as good fruit as that from which the seed was obtained, the same condition prevailing here as with the peach. In practically every way the apricot is handled the same as the peach, which it resembles.

FOWLS REQUIRE MEAT SCRAP

Rations Containing 12 Per Cent Animal Food Make Big Increase in Egg Production.

One of the most significant facts in feeding fowls for egg production, as brought out by experiments, is that rations containing approximately 12 per cent meat scrap decrease the cost of feed under present market prices more than 20 per cent, and increase the egg production more than 50 per cent, as compared with a ration containing only 2 per cent of meat scrap. This comparison has held true with both the light and heavier breeds of poultry. A ration in which the grain mixture was made up of three parts corn and one part wheat and the dry mash mixture of two parts by weight ground corn, one part bran and two parts meat scrap has given satisfactory results. The fowls consumed twice as much grain as mash.

Good Seed Is Essential.

The land may be fertile and well tilled, yet unless good seed is planted the harvest will be a disappointment.

Exact Time to Cull.

The exact time to cull can usually be told by watching the daily egg records of the flock.

Must Have Green Food.

Fowls and chicks that are confined in yards must have plenty of green feed of some kind or they cannot do well.

Foundation for Corn Crop.

Have you laid a firm foundation for next season's corn crop by selecting some first-class seed corn this fall?

Cause of Crop Failures.

Soil land is frequently the cause of crop failures, though other causes get the blame.

REPAIR IMPLEMENTS FOR RUSH IN SPRING

Opportune Time for Taking Inventory of Farm Machines.

Few Spare Hours Can Be Devoted Advantageously to Collection of Old Parts and Scrap Iron Accumulated on Farm.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The present is an opportune time for taking inventory of farm machinery resources, as well as account for essential repairs and record of implement condition. Repairs should be ordered and put in place as soon as received. Machines should be gone over thoroughly and prepared for the coming season. All adjustments should be made, a plentiful supply of various-sized bolts, nuts and screws should be secured and everything got in ship-shape order for the rush season of spring work.

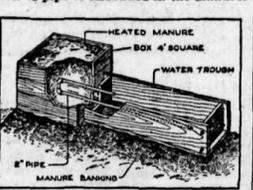

A few spare hours can be devoted advantageously to the collection of old implement parts, repairs and scrap iron which have accumulated in the corners and lanes, as the present value of scrap and junk justify the farmer in selling such material, which is valuable for industrial purposes.

Now is the time, also, to sharpen plow points and disks and to touch up the dull harrow teeth. The cultivator shovels should be sharpened, as blunt points and worn harrow teeth are highly inefficient and will not perform satisfactory work. All worn parts should be replaced and the machines placed in A-1 condition for field service. In spike-tooth harrows, teeth should be reversed in the clamps if worn only on one side, while if both points are dull, they should be removed and resharpened by forging and retempering. Spring-tooth harrow teeth should be handled similarly, while the disks of disk harrows should be edged. Mowers, reapers and binders should be overhauled and put in order for a strenuous campaign. The United States department of agriculture offers valuable information in Farmers' Bulletin 946, 947, 948 and 951, "Care and Repair of Farm Implements," which every American farmer should read.

GOOD DEMAND FOR FEATHERS

Poultry Raisers Should Not Overlook Profits That May Be Made From This By-Product.

There is usually a ready market for prime feathers that have had proper care and poultry raisers should not overlook the profits that may be made from this by-product. Feathers of ducks and geese are especially valuable but sometimes even chicken feathers can be sold at a price well worth the trouble to save and care for them. Feathers should be plucked during their period of close confinement and attendant requires only about two or three minutes a cow to prepare and gloss up the animals as though for a banquet. On the other hand, it is difficult and time-consuming to clean off cows which have been kept without grooming in a dirty stable.

The commendable practice is to groom and clean the cows daily at such a time between the milking periods that there will be abundant opportunity for the dust put into circulation to settle so that it will not contaminate the milk as it is drawn from the cows. It is necessary for best results to wipe off the udder and flanks of each cow with a moist, clean cloth just before milking, in order to remove all the surface dust and dirt which has escaped the previous clean-up processes. It is recommended that dairymen exercise special care to provide plenty of material so that at all times they may use clean cloths in preparing the cows for milking, as too commonly the wiping cloth, unless carefully handled, becomes a source of contamination. It is also advisable to clip off the long hairs from udder and flanks of each cow.

Don't Mix New Cream.

Do not mix new, warm cream with cold cream until it has been cooled in the shotgun can provided for this purpose. Keep the cans of cream in a cooling tank until time of delivery.

Find Out Worth of Cows.

Why not weigh the milk given by your cows and find out whether they are paying for their support?

Make Cows Keep You.

Don't keep cows; make your cows keep you.

CAN'T STEAL THE SCOUT SMILE.

A couple of scouts, on an overnight hike, stopped at a country store for some little things they needed. The proprietor, who had been rifled by some hold-up men but a short time before, cautioned them against robbers who were reported in the vicinity.

Good Point About Dairying.

One of the best points about dairy farming is the fact that when good young cows are acquired they are good for several years' service.

Cooling Milk Properly.

The farmer who has a source of reasonably cold water can cool his milk properly even though he has no ice supply.

Heavy Soils Not Favored.

The heaviest soils are seldom of any great value for orchards.

DAIRY

GROOMING COWS IS FAVORED

Animal is Naturally Clean and It is Dairymen's Duty to Keep Her So—Means More Milk.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Sightliness and attractiveness are feminine assets which extend even to the dairy cow. Naturally she is a clean animal. Unfortunately man has been obliged to confine the dairy cow closely in stables during certain periods of the year, with the consequence that unless he daily brushes and grooms the dairy matrons, their sleek, sooty coats soon lose their gloss and luster and become densely matted with dirt and litter. For the same reasons that it pays to groom horses—greater efficiency from neat, spick-span coats—it also proves invaluable to "doll up" the dairy cow daily by vigorous application of brush and curry comb. Cow comfort—that inexpressible condition of well-being which means animal satisfaction and the economical production of the maximum flow of milk—is fostered by careful and persistent grooming during the season when the cows need such extra attention, as ordinarily during the pasture period the animals of their own accord keep themselves clean.

The enthusiastic use of the brush and entycomb, supplemented by a moist cloth, as siege guns against dust and dirt, are good mediums for increased production, according to the opinions of progressive dairymen reported to the United States department of agriculture. They maintain that the clean coats and luxurious feelings of contentment induce increased production of milk. If you doubt the profits from grooming dairy cows, put it up to Bossie and her stable mates via the referendum-vote method.

From a sanitary standpoint, the densely matted, filthy and caked coat of the dirty cow is one of the main sources of contamination in milk. Filth dries on the body of the animal, and unless it is removed previous to milking, a portion of it is likely to fall into the milk pail and carry undesirable bacteria with it. Hence, Grooming Increases Cow Comfort and Makes for Clean Milk.

Grooming cows is a fundamental safeguard against inferior, germ-laden milk. Where cows are groomed daily during their period of close confinement an attendant requires only about two or three minutes a cow to prepare and gloss up the animals as though for a banquet. On the other hand, it is difficult and time-consuming to clean off cows which have been kept without grooming in a dirty stable.

Just moisten a cloth with a little "Danderine" and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this magically removes all dirt, excess oil and grease, but your hair is not left brittle, dry, stringy or faded, but charmingly soft, with glossy, golden gleams and tender lights. The youthful glints, tints and color are again in your hair.

"Danderine" is a tonic-beautifier. Besides doubling the beauty of the hair at once, it checks dandruff and stops falling hair. Get Danderine for a few cents at any drug or toilet counter and use it as a dressing and invigorator as told on bottle.—Adv.

A Double Strain.

It was a stage rehearsal. The principal lady came upon the stage in walking costume and started to sing her great song.

"My dear!" cried the manager, "you are surely not going to sing with your veil on?"

"Of course I am," she replied. "I would hurry off as soon as I finish. I have to meet a friend."

"But singing with a veil on!" expostulated the manager. "Well, well!" he added, in a resigned tone, "I can't help it if you want to strain your voice!"—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

A couple of scouts, on an overnight hike, stopped at a country store for some little things they needed. The proprietor, who had been rifled by some hold-up men but a short time before, cautioned them against robbers who were reported in the vicinity.

As the Editor Sees It

Living Salaries for Preachers
 Baptist laymen have issued an appeal to every congregation of their denomination to raise the salary of its pastor. The appeal comes from the National Committee of Northern Baptist Laymen and calls attention to the fact that "only one pastor in twenty-one within the last two years has had an increase in salary, and that today more than one-third of our pastors are receiving less than $1,000 a year, and probably one-half of this class are receiving less than $600." Doubtless this state of affairs prevails in other religious denominations. It is pertinent to observe that this is unjust and dangerous—unjust for the reason that ministers cannot, and would not if they could, strike for increased salaries; dangerous because, if the condition continues churches run the risk of losing able pastors and what influence they have retained in moulding public thought and solving serious problems of citizenship. Never before was the country in greater need of wise, strong and sane leaders in the pulpits of the churches. Yet pastors cannot live on the beatitudes or the Golden Rule.

Strong and sane leaders in the churches of the land need and merit good living salaries. They are not subscribers to an eight hour law or to double pay for overtime. They hold no union cards, yet are present at the christening, marriage and death of every union man, his wife and children. On such important occasions the test is not "the union" but "humanity." In a large measure pastors have charge of the destiny of the nation. Why not hold them to their high calling and reward them according to their exalted and patriotic service?
 N. Y. Herald.

Government Ownership
 The practical test of government control and operation as demonstrated on the railroads of the country has developed the following arguments against and in favor of the principle: Points against it; more men employed; vastly more wages paid; less traffic handled; passengers delayed; three times as long to deliver freight; roads run at a loss and deficit to be paid by the people in the form of increased taxes. Points for it: none.—The Pathfinder.

DECK OF STEAMER CROWDED WITH EMIGRANTS RETURNING TO EUROPE AFTER THE WAR.

RETURNING ALIENS SHOULD BUY W. S. S.
 Their Savings Invested With Uncle Sam Are Safe and Show a Sure Profit.

Since the signing of the armistice, it is estimated that 900,000 alien residents of the United States have gone back to Europe. These emigrants included Italians, Greeks, Jugoslavs, Syrians, Croatsians, Servians, Kurds and Rumanians. Investigation showed that many of the men of these latter races had saved as much as $5000 which they took with them in money.

That fact is a wonderful proof of the opportunities afforded to immigrants by this nation, but it is also proof that the aliens who returned to Europe had failed to seize one of the most important of these opportunities. Had they invested that money in United States government securities, such as War Savings Stamps and Treasury Saving Certificates, their savings need not have been idle a moment. Throughout their journeys, during the time necessary for them to relocate themselves, they would have been protected from robbery and loss and assured of a profit.

Further, they would have been removed from temptation to risk their savings in schemes devised solely to rob them. The ease with which some of the foreign born residents may be parted from their hard-earned money is exemplified by the experience of Professor Luigi Luzzatti, former Italian Premier. The Italian statesman recently was deluged with money from America in sums of $1 to $100 asking him to reserve tickets for the senders in a supposed international lottery the proceeds of which were to go towards defraying the cost of the war. There was no such lottery. A mere rumor in the French press had been sufficient to induce hundreds to part with their money.

If the foreign born residents of America are seeking to aid in paying the cost of the war, both for this country and the nations of Europe, the safest and most effective method of doing it is to save a portion of what they earn and invest it in U. S. War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates.

America presents to the foreign born the opportunity to make money and the United States government by means of War Savings Stamps, presents the means of saving it, for the benefit of the foreign born themselves, the country of their adoption and the country of their birth.

WORK OF SAVINGS DIVISION TO CONTINUE
 Savings Stamps and Certificates to Be Sold Indefinitely Says Secretary Glass.

The government has received more than $1,107,000,000 through sales of Thrift Stamps, War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates in the twenty-two months they have been available for purchase by the public. This is shown in a detailed statement concerning the work of the Savings Division of the Treasury Department issued by Secretary of the Treasury Glass. After a steady decrease in sales from the signing of the armistice, War Savings Stamps began to be in greater demand in August and September and reports thus far for October show a substantial increase.

As Secretary Glass has previously announced, Thrift Stamps, War Savings Stamps and Treasury Certificates will be available for purchase indefinitely. The design for the 1920 War Savings Stamp is now being completed, while that of the Thrift Stamp and Treasury Savings Certificate will remain the same.

Secretary Glass' statement said: "Figures have been compiled showing the expenses of the government savings and investment movement and the returns from the sales of the smaller denomination securities up to and including September 30 of the present year. While, naturally, with the termination of the popular campaign of the war period which made instant appeal to the patriotic fervor of that time, sales dropped sharply, to a decidedly lower level, the trend appearing in the figures for August and September indicates that the efforts of the Savings Organization to combat the present tendency to waste and extravagance which have come as a reaction from the wartime economies, are beginning to have their effect. The present showing of expense versus return is a gratifying one."

Expenditures of the Savings Division have materially decreased during the present calendar year and are being reduced with a view to making the thrift movement permanent.

The measure of the usefulness of the Savings Organization and of the thrift movement is not to be found in sales of Savings Stamps and Certificates alone. The Savings Organization is charged with the duty of teaching thrift and saving and investment in and holding of government securities of all kinds—Liberty Bonds, Victory Notes, and Certificates of Indebtedness, as well as Savings Certificates.

FAMOUS AUTO-RAGER STRONG FOR THRIFT

Thrift plays a part in the winning of every great automobile race—the driver who does not waste his own energy and strength and that of his car but holds them in reserve for the final effort is the one who finishes among the leaders.

A racing car is stripped of all non-essentials. The average machine weighs a thousand pounds less today than ten years ago, yet it is capable of greater speed. Cut out the non-essentials in spending, buy Savings Stamps instead and watch your bank account round the turn and show a little speed on the straightaway toward success.

Oldest Living Thing.
 The oldest living thing in the world is thought to be the famous cypress in the churchyard of the village of Santa Maria del Tule, a few miles from Mexico city. Experts have estimated its age as between five and six thousand years. It is said to have been a stripling two hundred years old when Cheops built the great pyramid.—Exchange.

Use of Oxalic Acid.
 In using oxalic acid to remove any ink stains always follow with a few drops of javelle water, which counteracts and neutralizes the oxalic acid. Then rinse with boiling water to remove both of these chemicals so that the fiber will remain untouched.

Remove Mildew.
 Take any common soap, size according to area of material that is affected. Cut soap in small pieces, add a little water to it and put on top of stove until dissolved. When about the consistency of cream take from the fire. Stir in common salt and cover the mildewed fabric with the mixture. If one application does not suffice, two will be sure to do the work. After applying the mixture, expose to the sun for some hours and then wash off.

JANET FOX HUNTERS TO OPEN SEASON NOVEMBER 21
 The State Fish and Game Commission has announced that fox-hunting in New Jersey, this year, will be prohibited until 21st—the close of the deer season. The fox hunting season has heretofore been in the first of the upland-game season, but a change in the game laws brings the deer season in December, instead of in October and early November and therefore the great mid-winter sport that flourishes especially in central and south Jersey woodlands will begin this year on December 21.

Perpetual Vision.
 What lightens labor, sanctifies toil and makes a man good and strong, wise and patient, just and benevolent, both lowly and great, as well as worthy of intelligence and freedom, is the perpetual vision before him of a better world beaming through life's shadows.—Victor Hugo.

Controlling the Winds.
 Controlling the winds is not yet an aviation triumph. If an aircraft starts from one point to another due east, and there is a wind blowing of 10 miles an hour northeast, that will clearly have to be taken into consideration, and the compass course altered (before ascending), according to the total distance of the journey.

Optimistic Thought.
 One is filled with riches who knows how to be without them.

When Hat is Taken.
 No man can wear a hat in England while ringing a church bell. It is an old custom rigidly adhered to today.

Ford THE UNIVERSAL CAR
 SIXTEEN YEARS' EXPERIENCE
 For sixteen years, a crop of metallurgists have been studying and constantly perfecting the steel that goes into every part of the Ford car and the Ford One Ton Truck. Each separate part has been studied to learn the type of steel best fitted for it. Parts receiving constant surface wear are made of hard, flint-like metal; parts subjected to great vibration or resilient are made of softer, springy steel. Every part is made according to its use—that is, every Genuine Ford part is.
 But there are also counterfeit "Ford" parts. They are sold as side-lines by mail-order houses, down-town stores, and many garages. The unsuspecting customer accepts them because they are called "Ford" parts.
 To make sure of getting the genuine Ford-made parts, come to authorized Ford headquarters.

"IT PAYS TO BUY AT HORNER'S"

Fall Suits On Tailored Lines

The 1919 autumn suit is strictly tailored. Its lines have none of the softness of recent seasons and often the edges of the coat are bound in braid, which makes it even more severe, notes a prominent fashion writer.

It seems certain that the strictly tailored effect with the three-quarter length coat and a skirt with circular fullness will remain with us during the season.

Reminiscence of the time of Louis XV and Louis XVI with the "appled-in" shoulder and semifitted waistline are many of these jackets with coat skirts that are full and flaring and equipped with big pockets at the sides, and though the skirts have more fullness than the models of the past season they are still straight of line.

The lines of the coat as well as the one-piece dresses have the effect of the redingote. The fullness, a little below the hips, is set in by cartridge plaits, as well as by cleverly placed stitched tucks, which gives the slim silhouette.

Distinctive Models. A smart coat and skirt costume is fashioned on the lines of those which no doubt will be seen on the modish woman this fall and winter.

This suit is made of soft, green suvetyn. The closing of the front is effected by one single button at the waistline. The collar is high and fastens with two buttons. There is a single wide revers faced with velvet. The full flaring coat skirts slant away from the front. The skirt is also made with a seam which begins at the left side of the waistline and slants toward the right. A hat of green velvet in same tint as the coat revers completes the costume.

Another suit is made of black velvet, the coat semifitted and fastened straight down the front from chin to a little below the waistline with a row of small, round, material buttons and loops. The sleeves are also button trimmed. At the hips three flounces have been inset, which give the modish flare. This unusually smart costume is topped by a small black draped toque.

Still another is an exceedingly attractive frock of velvety finished brown duvetyn. It has the new high collar buttoned close up around the neck and chin and the new flaring sleeves button trimmed at the elbow. The bodice is made basque effect. The skirt is rather wide and has large pocket draperies at the sides. The costume is accompanied by a chic dark brown velvet hat trimmed at the edge with an antique gold cord.

The Dressy Blouse. After the momentous question of the fall suit has been settled the average woman immediately turns her attention to the blouse to accompany it. In former years the white lingerie waist was considered good form and quite elaborate enough for ordinary wear and most occasions. But conditions have changed. Such charming blouses have been developed these latter years that the simple shirt-waist—fore-runner of them all—now seems to be relegated to the row of discarded garments. Perhaps the laundry problem has had something to do with this. While many business women prefer the tailored shirtwaist it is now apt to be of a soft pliant crepe or satin or silk requiring no starch and the simplest laundry attention.

Well-dressed women everywhere recognize the value of the blouse in the correct shade of the coat suit, making thus a perfect costume as a rule suitable for almost every occasion.

Smart Georgette Models. This fall there are the smartest of little blouses of georgette crepe or crepe de chine in all the fashionable colors. Often a blouse, say of navy blue or brown georgette crepe, will have a relieving note of beige or some light harmonizing tone and frequently they are made over a lining of the lighter tone material.

One blouse, admirably adapted as an accompaniment of a smart fall suit, was of navy blue georgette over beige. The beige formed a round yoke and short under-sleeves. Tiny colored buttons trimmed the beige yoke and under-sleeves, and the edges of both the overblouse and underblouse were piped in dark blue.

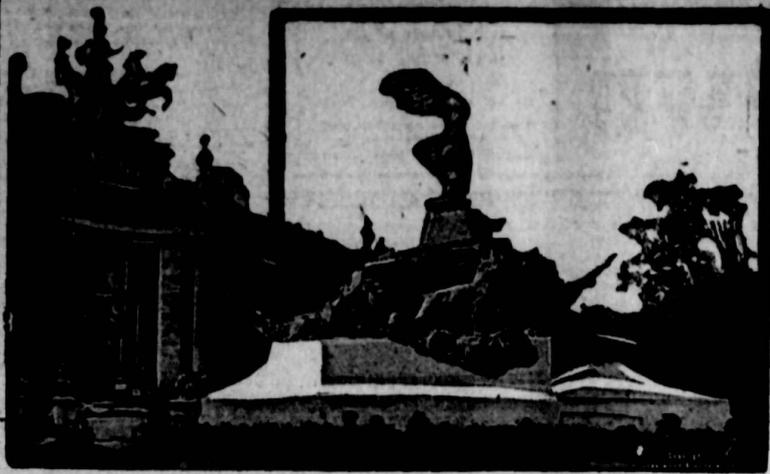

Another equally charming blouse was made of brown georgette over beige lining. This blouse was also fashioned with a yoke and under-sleeves of the lining material. The bodice was trimmed with green buttons and tiny frills of the beige crepe.

To be sure, there are more elaborate models, many of which are of chiffon or georgette crepe and are elaborately embroidered in beads or silk, dull gold or silver thread. But blouses of this class deserve a story all their own. Models in the dressy blouse class as well as those intended for more practical wear, are made with a plenum or in the form of a basque—the latter doing away with the necessity of a belt.

New and Vivid Colorings. The smart woman of limited income will pay little heed to the new and rather vivid colorings. She will quietly choose one of the lovely browns or blues or greens which are offered, leaving the new Liberty reds for her more fortunate sisters with a larger wardrobe. For the materials, she will choose duvetyn—that is, if she can afford it—but, if she finds this too expensive, then she will favor fine velours or a soft velveteen, a Poiret twill or a heavy English serge.

Lord Londonderry, who narrowly escaped being killed in an airplane accident recently, is fond of telling the story of a smart lad whom one of his keepers caught one day fishing in his private waters.

"You mustn't fish here," he was told; "these waters belong to Lord Londonderry."

"Do they?" said the boy. "I didn't know that." And promptly laying aside his rod he took up a book and commenced reading.

The keeper therefore departed, but returning the same way about an hour or so afterward he found that he had started fishing again.

"Didn't I tell you that this water belonged to Lord Londonderry?" he shouted.

"Why, you told me that an hour ago," retorted the youngster. "Surely the whole river don't belong to him; his share went by long ago."

Civilization in Korea.

History for many years B. C. tells us that the people of Korea were among the highest in genuine civilization. About the year 1597 a general by the name of Li built the first iron fleet, composed of wooden circular vessels with iron plates on top, studded with iron teeth. Because of the prosperity of the Korean nation, Japan was extremely jealous, and had therefore brought 700 boats in battle array. However, Li, with his 50 boats, succeeded in inflicting a disastrous defeat upon the Japanese.

Government Refuses to Vacate Legal Proceedings Against Coal Strikers.

GOMPERS APPEAL IS IN VAIN

Operators Declare He Has Misrepresented the Facts—People's Attitude Toward Radical Labor Leadership Shown in Massachusetts Election.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

Firmly refusing to be put in the position of compounding a felony, the federal government has rejected the proposition of the union labor leaders that it abandon the legal proceedings against the coal strike as a preliminary to negotiations for peace.

On Saturday Assistant Attorney General Ames asked Federal Judge Anderson at Indianapolis to make permanent the restraining order, thus establishing the illegality of the strike. If this is done, according to the leaders of the miners, the strike will be of long duration because the men "will resist to the last any attempt at wrongful compulsion."

In most of the bituminous fields there was little change in the status, though operators in Colorado and West Virginia reported gains in production.

In several states the shortage of coal began to make itself felt and there were appeals for the release of coal confiscated by the railroads; a number of trains were cancelled to save fuel; in some places the schools were closed for short periods.

President Wilson gave to Fuel Administrator Garfield full authority over prices, distribution and shipment and Ohio voted wet on all four of the liquor propositions presented according to incomplete returns. Maryland and Mississippi were carried by the Democrats. In New York city Tammany sustained a terrific defeat, losing ten aldermen and eighteen assemblymen besides various other offices. The Oyster Bay district sent Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt to the assembly with a whopping big vote.

President Wilson warmly congratulated Governor Coolidge on his victory over the forces of misrule, as do all good citizens regardless of party. The Republican leaders also rejoiced because they looked on the results in the Bay state and in Kentucky as a forecast of the results in the next presidential election. Democrats were elated over New Jersey, and the workers derived much comfort over the vote in that state and in Ohio.

Samuel Gompers, who with W. S. Stone, head of the locomotive engineers, has been working to bring about a compromise made the appeal for abolition of the injunction against the strike, and issued a statement designed to justify the demands made by the strikers and accusing the operators of much wrongdoing and unfairness. The latter retorted with a statement saying that Mr. Gompers' pronouncement was full of misrepresentations, continuing:

"It is not true that the operators' representatives walked out of Secretary Wilson's conference, leaving Mr. Lewis with no alternative but to call a strike. The operators' representatives accepted President Wilson's proposal in its entirety and withdrew from the conference in order that their presence might not embarrass Secretary Wilson in his effort to persuade the miners to take the honorable course thus opened to them.

"At the time of their withdrawal, the operators advised Secretary Wilson that they would remain in Washington, awaiting his call to further conference.

"It is not true, as Mr. Gompers implies, that the miners are not permitted by the operators to work full time. The operators have no control over the demand for coal. They can merely send ready to produce and furnish it when the public requires and is willing to accept it.

"It is not true that the miners received an advance of 20 cents a ton in 1914.

"It is not true that the operators raised the price of coal $5 a ton in 1914. On the contrary, the price was reduced.

"It is not true, as Mr. Gompers states, that for the past several years the miners have averaged only 100 to 180 working days a year.

"It is a fact, however—and Mr. Gompers could easily have ascertained it—that virtually every bituminous mine in the country has on its payroll a substantial number of men who deliberately lay off from one to three days a week when they have an opportunity to work."

Samuel Gompers and his conservative associates among the leaders of the American Federation of Labor deserve commendation for their efforts to keep the radicals and anarchists from gaining control over organized labor in this country, but they are not doing their cause or themselves any good by giving their full support to such movements as the coal strike, the steel strike and the strike of Boston policemen. Public sympathy is being rapidly alienated by some of the methods adopted by union labor, and in America public sympathy is absolutely necessary to success in such matters.

That the people really are waking up to the perils of the situation was fully demonstrated in the Massachusetts election. Governor Coolidge, who had taken a firm stand against the striking policemen and had insisted on the maintenance of law and order, was up for re-election and was opposed by Richard H. Long. The latter, running on the Democratic ticket, had promised to reinstate the policemen if elected, and the contest really centered in the strike. The result, of course, everyone knows—Coolidge was returned by an overwhelming majority and the radicals, who had gathered their forces to the support of Long were crushed.

Of the other elections of the week the most interesting was in Kentucky, where E. P. Morrow, Republican, defeated Governor Black by a large plurality and the state-wide prohibition amendment won. In New Jersey E. I. Edwards, Democrat, who ran on a wet platform, was elected governor; and Ohio voted wet on all four of the liquor propositions presented according to incomplete returns. Maryland and Mississippi were carried by the Democrats. In New York city Tammany sustained a terrific defeat, losing ten aldermen and eighteen assemblymen besides various other offices. The Oyster Bay district sent Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt to the assembly with a whopping big vote.

President Wilson warmly congratulated Governor Coolidge on his victory over the forces of misrule, as do all good citizens regardless of party. The Republican leaders also rejoiced because they looked on the results in the Bay state and in Kentucky as a forecast of the results in the next presidential election. Democrats were elated over New Jersey, and the workers derived much comfort over the vote in that state and in Ohio.

Despite the apparent deadlock over the peace treaty in the senate, the indications are that an agreement for early final action is at hand. Secretary Tumulty arranged with the president's physicians for a visit by Senator Hitchcock to Mr. Wilson in order to lay before him the entire situation, explain the evident intentions of the majority concerning reservations and obtain the president's word as to what he would accept in that line. Over and over again Mr. Wilson has said he would accept no change in the treaty or reservation which would compel the resubmission of the pact to the other nations, and the majority senators are taking cognizance of his determination. Already they have changed the Lodge reservations by a sentence pointing out that the acceptance of the reservations by the other powers, as required by the proposed ratification resolution, may be obtained through an exchange of diplomatic notes. They also planned to strike out the fourteenth reservation, declaring the United States is not bound to submit to the League of Nations questions of vital interest or national honor.

According to Paris advices the treaty of Versailles will become effective on November 28, when the exchange of ratifications between Germany and the other nations will have been completed.

Secretary Baker transmitted the report to the senate committee, stating that he disagreed with both the proposals. He said if a single agency were to be created, it should be appointed and controlled by the cabinet members whose departments would be directly affected.

SEFK TO END BOLSHEVISM

"Green" Forces in Russia Said to "Constitute a Power to Be reckoned With."

London.—The "greens" of Russia, often incorrectly referred to as the "green army," constitute a force that must be seriously reckoned with, in the opinion of Russian experts at the British foreign office. Their opinion is based upon a report of one of their secret agents, who for months has been in a position to closely study conditions in bolshevik Russia.

The majority of the "greens" are deserters from the bolshevik armies, but in their ranks may be found representatives of nearly every political element in the country excepting bolshevism. They have no governmental plans. Should they gain the upper hand their one idea would be to kill bolsheviks and Jews. They take no prisoners and care for none of the enemy's wounded, the agents say. It is estimated that, in the spring of many of such nations as have ratified the pact will take place. Germany has not yet fulfilled a number of the provisions of the armistice and was instructed by the supreme council to send a delegation to Paris on November 10 to sign a protocol guaranteeing to carry them out, and also to surrender certain vessels and floating docks as a penalty for the sinking of the warships in Scapa Flow.

Germany is excited over the revelations in a leading Berlin paper of a big communist plot for an uprising this winter which, beginning with strikes to cripple industry, shall end in the establishment of a soviet form of government in close association with the present bolshevik government of Russia. The conspiracy, it is said, is led and financed by Russians. The outbreak is said to have its beginning in the Ruhr coal-mining district, already full of Spartacists, and Munich and Brunswick will be among the main centers of uprising. The communists believe a large part of the national defense army will desert and join their red army.

The pendulum of civil war swings back and forth with considerable regularity in Russia. At this writing it is the bolsheviks that are winning. General Yudenitch and his white army of the northwest not only failed to reach Petrograd but are now said to be in a most precarious situation. The reds assert they are surrounding him, that they are receiving heavy reinforcements and that bolshevik troops are attacking him in the rear from Luga. This, however, came direct from Trotsky, and he is a notorious liar. Consideration must be given a report from Helsinki that 20,000 Finns have secretly volunteered to join Yudenitch and are well equipped. Denikine's artillery has destroyed Derbent on the Caspian sea, and he claims the Don Cossacks in the latter part of October captured 55,000 bolsheviks. But he does not seem to be getting much nearer to Moscow. Admiral Kolchak's Siberian armies, which were defeated on the Tobol river, have retired far to the east and likely are still on the move.

The bolshevik government leaders have reiterated their willingness to make peace and to pay the old Russian debt if they are let alone.

Congress had been dawdling along in the matter of railroad legislation, but was aroused to action last week when Director General Hines informed Senator Cummins that President Wilson had determined to return the roads to their former owners and for continuation of the government guaranty, but all controversial matters, like the anti-strike provisions of the Cummins bill, will be omitted.

General Pershing, appearing before the senate and house military committees, opposed the creation of an independent department of aviation as proposed in the New bill, but urged the concentration of authority for the procurement of airplanes for the army, navy and post office departments.

A special air board has just made a report recommending that congress enact an aviation policy based either on a ten-year program with large annual appropriations guaranteed, or stimulate commercial aeronautics, or make appropriations for air development by the post office, war and navy departments. If the former policy is adopted the board recommended that a separate department of aeronautics be created; if the latter, that a commission under the director of aeronautics reporting directly to the president be formed to co-ordinate the work.

Secretary Baker transmitted the report to the senate committee, stating that he disagreed with both the proposals. He said if a single agency were to be created, it should be appointed and controlled by the cabinet members whose departments would be directly affected.

1919, 80 per cent of the bolshevik soldiers deserted. Augmented by other malcontents, they organized themselves into formidable guerrilla bands, but in their ranks may be found representatives of nearly every political element in the country excepting bolshevism. They have no governmental plans. Should they gain the upper hand their one idea would be to kill bolsheviks and Jews. They take no prisoners and care for none of the enemy's wounded, the agents say. "In my country there are no plans yet for a reduction of the navy or army. We are waiting to see what is done off that way by the other great powers. That seems to me to be the position of all of the nations. They are willing to disarm, but are waiting for a general agreement for the purpose."

Plaids For Young Misses

Gay Colors Are Without Sombre Melancholy of Lonely Hills and War Thoughts.

Fashions change very little school folks, color "rogues" and novelties keep life interesting in many ways, but when it comes to outfitting that important section of humanity for its academic career there is nothing so "forever needful" as serges and Scotch plaids—set them up in what variable styles you will.

This year there are many pleated skirts and with them are worn blouses of linen, cotton crepe, or dimity in the cozier shades of the coat suit, making thus a perfect costume as a rule suitable for almost every occasion.

The blouses are considerably longer walsted than the skirt waist for older girls and are not trimmed except for a bit of hemstitching or wool embroidery.

Collars are mostly round and low. Jumper frocks are again quite the thing and preferred often to the whole dress of dark fabric. For jumper frocks the plain serges are more appropriate than the plaids.

Some smart all-serge frocks for school girls have capes attached. Purple and lavender are no longer the "old ladies'" colors, for we have no "old ladies'" now-a-days, and so even tons of two and three years are considered appropriately dressed in a gaily frock of lavender organdie trimmed with white. Frocks of bright-purple chambray are also shown.

Borax Bleaches.

To bleach white garments, use on-tablespoonful of borax in one gallon of water. Wet the clothes, dry in the sun, and repeat the process if necessary.

ASBURY PARK AND OCEAN GROVE FOUNDERS SERIOUSLY ILL

Considerable concern is felt in Asbury Park and Ocean Grove over the failing health of the founders of the two resorts—Dr. Aaron E. Ballard and James A. Bradley. Both are confined to their beds and fear is expressed that neither will regain the vigor which has marked even the latter years of their lives. Mr. Bradley is 84 years of age and is confined to his hotel in New York, while Dr. Ballard, who will enter upon his 100th year on Christmas day, is at his home in Ocean Grove. He was one of the original center of Methodist ministers who organized the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association and was engaged in the upbuilding of this religious resort when Mr. Bradley became interested in the Jersey shore realty and purchased the tract where Asbury Park now stands. Both possessed similar civic ideas and have worked together not only to prevent the sale of liquor

"NEBBY BO; NEBBY NOT"

During the past few weeks many rumors have been afloat concerning the future of the Lakewood Hotel property which formerly housed the U. S. General Hospital, No. 9, and according to such rumors the place has changed hands daily. It has been variously stated that the Government had taken over the property to be used as a crippled soldiers' school, a permanent officers' hospital, etc. The Times and Journal finds that nothing definite as yet has taken place, altho the government has been discussing the subject with some appearance of real interest. If the building is finally taken over it will no doubt be an asset of value for Lakewood.—Times and Journal.

CAMP DIX STILL ON TOP

Regular army forces at Camp Dix will be increased this week by the arrival of another regiment as a part of the post garrison, the 57th Infantry now at Camp Pike, Ark., which will arrive within a few days at its new station. The 57th will come to Dix with a skeleton organization of 25 officers and enlisted men. With the 45th already there, it will be recruited to full strength from enlistments at Camp Dix, Philadelphia, New York and other Eastern cities.

SCOPE OF THE FOURTEENTH CENSUS EXTENDED

Washington, Oct. 28.—That the fourteenth Decennial Census, on which the actual enumeration work will begin January 2, 1920, is to be the most important ever taken is shown by the fact that the Act of Congress, providing for this census expressly increased the scope of the inquiries so as to include forestry and forest products, two subjects never covered specifically by any preceding census.

The inquiries to be made relating to population, manufactures, mines, quarries and agriculture were also extended in their scope by Congress, the keenest interest over the forthcoming census having been shown by the members of the House and Senate while the law was under consideration.

The statistics gathered on mining will include all oil and gas wells. Many startling developments in this important branch of the Nation's resources are looked for by census officials. The figures gathered in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas will no doubt prove to be those most eagerly sought for, as shown by inquiries already received by the Census Bureau.

The compilation and gathering of forestry and forest products statistics will be in charge of a special force of experts. The accurate and comprehensive figures gathered concerning this vital natural resource will be much in demand, and the comparisons made with conditions existing before the war will be of great interest.

Agricultural statistics will likewise be the subject of special effort on the part of the Census Bureau as the importance of farming is being realized by the average citizen far more than ever before.

LAYS BRONZASS OF HOUSES TO AUTOMOBILES

A Newark real estate dealer is responsible for the statement that the shortage of houses is largely due to automobiles. He says that there are millions of cars and that it is a plain fact that a large proportion of them belong to people who cannot afford both a house and a car, and that many of moderate means who formerly bought a lot and built a house for their families now dwell in apartments and invest their money in a motor car.

Sunshine in October.

There is no season when such pleasant and sunny spots may be lighted on and produce so pleasant an effect on the feelings, as now in October. The sunshine is peculiarly genial; and in sheltered places on the side of a bank, or of a barn or house, one becomes acquainted and friendly with the sunshine. It seems to be of a kind and homely nature. And the green grass strewn with a few withered leaves looks the more green and beautiful for them.—Hawthorne.
