New Jersey Finds Prohibition Has Decreased Prisoners, So Will Make Old Cells Suffice

New Egypt, N. J., Jan. 26.—New Jersey counties will build no more jails, even when the present structures have been condemned, according to Joseph M. Thompson, of New Egypt, chief of the Bureau of Inspection of the State Department of Institutions and Agencies. Mr. Thompson advised the Ocean County Board of Freeholders that they may continue to use the old jail at Toms River, if the structure is made escape proof and habitable for its occasional inmates. Mr. Thompson says that records show that prohibition has rapidly emptied the county jails, all thru the state, and that state officials have decided to hold up the various plans for the new county jails while they see if the present conditions are to continue.

The decision of the state board will save Ocean County taxpayers approximately $100,000, which was the estimated cost of the new jail, plans for which was submitted by the state department to the county freeholders. The new jail was to have contained 40 cells, but most of the time since war-time prohibition became effective, the old jail has lacked a single prisoner.

MONSTER HOTEL TO BE BUILT IN ATLANTIC CITY

A wrecking crew has commenced the task of preparing for the site of the projected new $20,000,000 Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Atlantic City, which is to cover four blocks. The financing of the undertaking has been completed and S. W. Strauss & Co., New York bankers and present owners of the Hotel Ambassador, have underwritten a serial bond issue of $4,000,000 at six per cent interest secured by first mortgage on the land, buildings and earnings of the company. The plans will be carried out as fast as industrial conditions will permit. The structure will be of fifteen stories of the Georgian period of architecture, and the trimmings will be of limestone with ornaments of terra cotta.

THE WOMEN'S TOWN IMPROVEMENT AND CIVIC ASSOCIATION NOTES

The W. T. I. and Civic Ass'n held its regular meeting in Borough Hall, January 26th. A good attendance, considering the weather conditions.

Reports from committees were encouraging and their work had been well done. We wish to publicly thank the Borough Council for the commodious drawer that was made in the table for the use of the Association. It is fully appreciated.

Through the kindness of the firm Johnson and Johnson, New Brunswick, N. J., the W. T. I. and Civic Ass'n. has been the recipient of 200 booklets compiled by the scientific department of this firm entitled "Contagious Disease Bulletin," also "The First Aid and Household Hand Books."

The lady members of the Board of Health, Mrs. Thomas Speck and Mrs. Jennie N. Pharo, with others to assist them are distributing this valuable literature through our town.

The Hygiene classes in High School have been supplied with a set, also every teacher. The First Aid or Household Hand book will be given to those in our school who are taking first aid instruction. We trust that into every home, where these valuable booklets go that they will be carefully read, and aid will be given our health board officers in their work of keeping our town cleaner and preventing, as far as possible, the spread of contagious disease.

We, as town people, all know that our town is especially favored in that there is no pollution from any outside source. Nothing can pollute our natural water supply; neither can pollution of any kind interfere with our Oyster and Clam industry.

We then, as townspeople, feel a civic pride of course, in assuring ourselves that there shall be nothing left undone that we can do to endeavor to keep this condition.

Keep this uppermost in our minds and Aid and Work toward a still better, cleaner and prosperous Tuckerton. Why not? Everybody give a helping hand to the W. T. I. and Civic Association by becoming a member. Payment of $1.00 per year in advance is all it costs.

The next regular meeting, February 6th at Borough Hall at 3 o'clock. Full attendance is requested.

In one region of government forest land in Argentina it is estimated that there are at least 1,000,000 pine trees large enough for profitable lumbering.

Monday, 30 served $4.00; Tuesday, 40 served $5.00; Wednesday, 50 served $6.05; Thursday, 45 served $7.00; Friday, 45 served $7.00. Total number served for week, 210. Total receipts for week, $29.15. Cost of materials over donations, $11.01. Amount cleared $18.14.

Visit the school week will be observed in Tuckerton from February 16th to 20th. Last year the patrons of our school did not turn out well to observe the work of the children. No special program or recitations will be prepared. We want the parents to see the regular work of the school. It has been a long time since most of the parents were in schools themselves and it will be of interest to you to see what changes have been made. It will give you an opportunity to become acquainted with the teachers. It will give you a fair appreciation of the conditions under which the teachers work and an insight of the difficulties which confront them. Parents and teachers should know each other as they have a common interest in preparing children for citizenship.

Your visit will be encouraging to the children. The rooms will strive to see which one can place the largest number of names on the visitors roll in the register. Do not refuse their request to visit the school as it may lead them to think that you are not interested in their progress and promotion. We know that most parents are busy but time well spent in the education of your children, or in the inspiring of your children to obtain an education, may save you hours of worry and give you feelings of comfort to know that they are on the right path.

Both the children and the teachers will be glad to meet you in the school during the Vist-School-Week or at any time you may feel free to come and see us at work.

REPUBLICAN CLUB PLANS DINNER, CHOOSES OFFICERS

The Ocean County Republican club held its annual meeting on Tuesday of this week, and planned for a dinner at the Ocean House on the night of February 26, when it is likely that some speaker of state or national reputation will be present. The club also elected, or re-elected, its officers for the year 1920 as follows: President, Joseph M. Thompson of New Egypt; vice-presidents, U. S. Grant and Wm. H. Fischer; Secretary, A. W. Brown, Jr.; treasurer, Thomas B. Irons; trustees, George W. Holman Jr., Edward Crabbe, Joseph B. Willis.

The committee in charge of the dinner consists of A. W. Brown, Jr., W. S. Jackson, Sheriff Harold Chaffey. It is probable that instead of a dollar dinner, old H. C. L. will run the price up to two dollars a plate. At this dinner, it is quite likely that somebody will talk to somebody else about who will go to the national Republican convention as delegates or alternates. The last dinner the club gave was at Trenton house in Trenton almost a year ago.

Each form contains instructions for preparing and filing the return, and these should be carefully read and strictly observed.

There is also provided a "work sheet," which should be used for making the original computations, and which should be retained and preserved by the taxpayer.

Any person who is in doubt on points affecting his particular case, should bring such matters to the attention of the nearest Deputy Collector or Revenue Agent, who will assist and render every necessary aid without charge.

When the return is completed, it should be properly executed and immediately filed. Any Internal Revenue Officer will administer the necessary oath without charge.

It is pointed out that accuracy in compiling the return is absolutely necessary. Mere guesses and estimates as to income and deductions should be avoided, and actual facts and amounts should be set forth. And this is equally important in considering the question of whether a return is required.

MULLICA RIVER BRIDGE BUILDER SUES TWO COUNTIES FOR $240,000

Atlantic City, Jan. 16.—Action has been brought in the United States District Court by Contractor Bennett, who started the construction of the Mullica River Bridge, against Atlantic and Burlington counties for the recovery of damages totaling $240,000. The contractor contends that he lost money because of failure to receive proper certificates from the county engineers on work which would have enabled him to collect under his joint contract with the two counties.

The Freeholders claim in defense that Contractor Bennett failed to fulfill his share of the contract and that as a result the counties were compelled to finish the bridge.

TIME TO PAY YOUR INCOME TAX

Information For Those Required to Pay and Time for Filing Accounts

The Federal Income Tax season opens today, with the distribution of the forms for personal returns from the offices of Collector of Internal Revenue, Camden, New Jersey.

From now until the bell rings on the night of March 15th, the annual returns covering income for 1919 will be figured out and filed by citizens and residents, together, with payments of tax due.

The burden of fulfilling this obligation is laid by law squarely on the shoulders of those who are American citizens or residents. Every person must determine for himself whether his net income for 1919, figured according to the Revenue Law, was sufficient in amount to require a return.

If he is single, a return is required if his net income was $1000 or over. A widow or widower is classed as a single person. A man or woman living apart from his wife or her husband is also classed as a single person.

If he was married and living with his wife on December 31st, a return is required if his net income for 1919 was $2000, or over. In his net income he must include that of his wife and minor children, if any.

If a tax is due on his income, he must make payment with his return. This payment may be made in whole or in part of the tax due. At least one-quarter of the tax must accompany the return.

The filing and paying must be done before midnight of March 15th, or he is classed as a delinquent and is subject to severe penalties.

Two forms are being distributed for personal returns. Form 1040A is intended for use by a person whose net income does not exceed $5000. A larger form, 1040, is intended for each person having a net income in excess of $5000. Both of these forms are now obtainable at Internal Revenue offices and at some banks and Post Offices.

It is urged by the Internal Revenue Bureau that taxpayers obtain their blanks at once. Failure to have a blank form at hand for an eleventh-hour return will not relieve a person of penalty for failure to comply with the law.

Each form contains instructions for preparing and filing the return, and these should be carefully read and strictly observed.

There is also provided a "work sheet," which should be used for making the original computations, and which should be retained and preserved by the taxpayer.

Any person who is in doubt on points affecting his particular case, should bring such matters to the attention of the nearest Deputy Collector or Revenue Agent, who will assist and render every necessary aid without charge.

When the return is completed, it should be properly executed and immediately filed. Any Internal Revenue Officer will administer the necessary oath without charge.

It is pointed out that accuracy in compiling the return is absolutely necessary. Mere guesses and estimates as to income and deductions should be avoided, and actual facts and amounts should be set forth. And this is equally important in considering the question of whether a return is required.

18th Amendment Rejection Halted In Jersey House

Republicans Succeed in Having Democrats' Resolution Sent to Committee

Heated Debates Mark Fight on the Measure

Anti-Suffrage Leaders Open Move to Have Issue Decided by Popular Vote

Tactical maneuvering involving prohibition and woman suffrage marked the opening of the Assembly session Monday. The first gun was fired by Assemblyman Barret, minority leader, who offered a resolution rejecting the eighteenth amendment and moved its immediate adoption.

Republican leaders hastened to oppose having the House put on record on the question. Mr. Hershfield deplored hasty action upon so important a subject and asked that the resolution be referred to the committee on federal relations. Mr. Wallworth, of Camden, moved to amend by providing a referendum on the question of ratifying or rejecting the prohibition amendment.

The various proposals precipitated a parliamentary wrangle, involving heated debate between majority and minority members. The minority contended that the Republican amendments were not in order, contending the roll call had already been started by calling the first name on the roll. Assemblyman Pierson, who was in the chair, ruled otherwise and was sustained on appeal from his decision. The resolution to refer finally prevailed and the Republicans came out of the fight victors.

Anti-Suffrage Move Balked

Mr. Barret next took up the cudgels against the woman suffrage by invoking the rule of fifteen to relieve the House committee on federal relations from further consideration of the Coles bill requiring that all proposed amendments to the constitution shall be submitted to popular vote before legislative action. That action brought a protest from Mr. Hershfield on the ground that the committee had not had opportunity to properly consider the measure and that the notice of the intention to relieve was ill advised and contrary to the spirit of the rule of fifteen. Mr. McAteer, Democrat of Hudson, joined with Mr. Hershfield in opposing the move to relieve the committee.

Introduction of Administrative Measures to Reorganize the State Highway Commission and the Housing Problem Marked the Reopening of the Assembly Monday Night

Assemblyman Gaede, of Hudson, was sponsor for the public utility measures of Governor Edwards. One of these would create a commission to value the property of public utilities, another abolish the present Public Utility Commission, the third would authorize the appointment of a temporary commission and the fourth would provide for a permanent elective commission of three members.

The bill to provide for a valuation of public utility properties authorizes the governor to appoint three valuation commissioners at a salary of $10,000 a year each. The members may be removed by the governor summarily. No member or employee of the board may have any official or professional relation with, or hold any securities of any public utility operating within the state. The bill carries with it an appropriation of $100,000 to defray the expenses of the valuation which is to include an investigation as to all watered stock and underlying securities of corporations.

Provision is made for application to the Supreme Court in the event of any public utility refusing to aid in the valuation as provided by law. The valuation commission is to file quarterly reports with the new Public Utility Commission proposed to be established under the Edwards plan.

Bill to Oust Utility Board

The second of the Gaede measures would terminate the present public utility commission ten days after approval of the bill by the governor. The third bill authorizing the governor to appoint a temporary commission of three members would become effective immediately. The final measure of the series provides for the election of a new board of three members to take effect January 1st next. Candidates are to be elected by districts and nominated at the direct primaries without the intervention of any party convention. Upon taking office the new commission would assume all the duties and powers of the present commission, operating the present public utility law, except as otherwise designated.

Mr. Barret, minority leader in the House, introduced a joint resolution authorizing appointment of a commission to investigate and report at the present session upon the subject of stimulating the building of homes to relieve the present critical situation in the housing of people in New Jersey.

The preamble set forth that much hardship and suffering has resulted from lack of housing facilities, and that it may be possible to ameliorate present conditions by changes in the laws respecting taxation, tenement house requirements, savings banks investments, building codes and in other ways. The commission of five members is to be appointed by the governor, and is directed to make such recommendations as it may deem proper.

Bills Introduced

Bills introduced in the House included the following:

Regular fishing in the Delaware River and bay.

Providing for the establishment of a retirement system for state employees.

Creates a board of five trustees. Membership is mandatory upon all new employees and optional with present employees.

Provided for compulsory retirement at seventy.

Speaker W. Irving Glover, whose mother died last Saturday, appeared at the opening of the House session, but immediately surrendered the chair to Mr. Pierson, of Union. The House, by a rising vote, adopted a resolution expressing sympathy with the speaker. There being no bills on the calendar for consideration the House adjourned until next Monday night.

SUFFRAGE RALLY ATTENDED BY 2000

Governor Renews Pledge and Urges Women to Continue to Fight for Vote

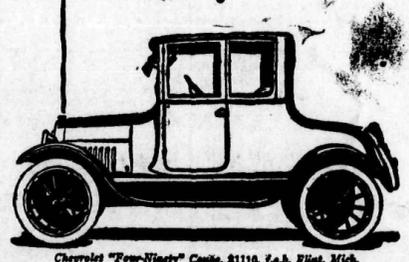

Assemblyman Glover and Senator Case Accept Paper on Behalf of Both Houses

Trenton, Jan. 26.—Petitions containing the names of 123,000 women of New Jersey asking the Legislature to ratify the amendment for woman suffrage were filed with Governor Edwards. Senator Clarence E. Case, president of the Senate, and Speaker W. Irving Glover, of the House of Assembly, at the Suffrage ratification rally in the Shrine Temple, Trenton, Monday afternoon.

About 2000 enthusiastic women, representing every section of the state, attended the demonstration, many of them wearing the "Votes for Women" regalia and the yellow brassard of the suffrage movement. The facades of the gallery were trimmed in suffrage colors and the stage took on the colors of the suffrage battle flags.

Among the prominent women seated on the stage was Mrs. Edwards, wife of the governor, who, after the meeting signed the petition from Jersey.

What the War Did For American Farming

By Robert H. Moulton

DURING the past two years the methods of production and conservation employed by the farmers of this country have advanced 20 years of peace time. Prior to 1914, and even up to the declaration of war by the United States, there were farmers in every community who were not interested in county agents, farmers' institutes, the agricultural colleges, or the United States department of agriculture. But when war was declared and Uncle Sam asked the farmers to grow more food-stuffs of every kind, those who had before assumed an attitude of indifference responded to the call.

Throughout the nation these farmers, with a spirit of patriotism and an additional inducement of fair prices and an assurance of reasonable compensation for their expenditures, called upon the federal department and other agencies that could give them information. The attitude, as well as the spirit of the farmers changed from peace-time to war-time farming.

Improved methods and practices adopted and now being applied have come to stay. In future farming methods there should be little question as to the practice of the man who has treated his oats for smut and has increased his yield; the man who has applied fertilizer to his wheat and has increased his crops five to ten bushels an acre; the man who has sought information on the feeding of cattle and has found that by adding protein to the ration he can produce a pound of beef with nine pounds of corn where the old ration required 13 pounds of grain; the man who was encouraged to build a silo through which he is able to feed a ton of cattle with the crops from 10 acres of land when before it required 26 acres. Men who have learned these lessons, have seen the result, and have profited by them, are not going back to old-time methods. Farmers are reaching out in a broader way for additional aid.

Last fall farmers planted 40,000,000 acres of wheat, and while the early prospective yield was reduced to some extent by reason of adverse weather and insect enemies, a crop of approximately a billion bushels is the result. This huge crop is the direct result of the good methods of farming that were employed in the fall of 1918. There were more tons of fertilizer applied to this wheat than during any previous year. There was more early plowing. There was better cultivation. There was better selection of varieties and better treatment of the seed. There was more top-dressing of the crop with straw and manure than ever was known in any other year. Part of the crop was due to favorable weather in some localities, some just to plain luck, but the big results achieved in the wheat fields all over the country was due to the improved methods employed by farmers.

There is large and sufficient evidence to show that agriculture has made a rapid, sure, and substantial advance. If that is true, then agriculture will not readily revert.

At no time has the farmer been called upon to give greater attention to the business side of his operations. In this day of high-priced land, labor, seed, fertilizer, machinery, and other materials and equipment, careful attention must be given to economical production. Industrial plants have found it necessary to introduce the cost-accounting system in order that the cost of each part manufactured may be determined. In the same way, farmers must conduct their business and know more definitely the desirable and profitable lines of production.

Not every farmer has it within his power to increase his acreage, but he can very materially increase his income by judiciously increasing the size of his business. There is one way of doing this that seems to be open to farmers in practically all parts of the country. The simplest and surest way for the landlocked farmer to make more money is to produce more and better live stock. There is but limited opportunity for expansion in the production of the intensively grown crops, but there is great opportunity for expansion in the breeding and sale of all classes of live stock. In the case of 42 farms surveyed in Henry county, Indiana, by the department of agriculture, 11 made an average labor income of $1,423 a year. These farms kept the most live stock, averaging 62 animal units—that is, 62 full-grown cattle, or their equivalent in smaller animals. Sixteen farms made an average labor income of $470. These farms kept live stock averaging 19 animal units per farm. Fifteen farms made an average labor income of but $1. Not one of these farms kept more than 15 animal units.

Dividing these farms into three groups according to the number of animals to an acre, the same tendency is shown. The more heavily stocked the farm the larger the labor income.

A specific example of what can be accomplished by raising more and better stock, is that of a corn-belt farm, formerly managed as a straight-grain farm, that for the past five years has been operated as a hog farm. The system followed is rather unusual, in that but one litter is raised each year, the sows bred being gilts, which are fattened and sold after their pigs have been weaned. The pigs, put on full feed on self-feeders, are sold when from six to seven months old. Enough hogs are bought to hog down the corn crop. The profits realized are far in advance of those realized under the old system. For the past three years, respectively, the net returns from the hog enterprise alone have been $1,250, $1,850, and $3,733.

It should be borne in mind in this connection, however, that, just as a large acreage may be a handicap rather than an advantage unless used to advantage, so live stock may be a liability rather than an asset unless the quality of the animals is high. The more scrub cows a man has the worse off he is if he persists in trying to produce milk from them, and in some cases the quickest way to increase net returns is to sell a bunch of canners.

The high-class hog and the high-class cow, each in its own field, has no equal in efficiency in turning raw products into human food, but until we realize the wide difference in efficiency between the scrub cow producing 2,000 pounds of milk and the animal yielding 7,000 pounds of milk, or between the razorback hog and the hog that converts corn into pork rapidly and economically, we are not in a position to make the most of this fact.

So the farmer who seeks to increase his business by going into live stock enterprises will make a grave mistake unless he pays strict attention to the vital question of quality of stock. It is not necessary to begin with expensive registered animals, for good grade stock will serve, but it is essential that great care be exercised in selecting the individual animals that are to serve as the foundation of the herd or flock. When such care is taken, however, there is no safer way for the farmer to increase the size of his business than by intensive production of live stock.

Oyster Shells for Poultry

Oyster shell is not needed by chicks, but pullets and hens do better for having oyster shell as a regular part of their ration. This was proved by the New York agricultural experiment station some years ago, when a poultry writer condemned the use of oyster shell as unnecessary. The New York station proved that a pound of oyster shell contains enough lime to manufacture about seven dozen eggs. This should not be fed in the mash. Fowls know more about what they need to eat than we do. If they have the shell, ground bone, meat scraps and grit in hoppers before them, with a variety of ground grains in dry mash, they will balance their ration better than we can balance it for them.

Combat Vermin on Animals

It doesn't take much argument to convince the owner of lousy stock that relief measures should be inaugurated to combat the lice and relieve the animals. Lice show on animals usually in the late winter and early spring months. The harm they do is then very apparent. Stock owners usually busy themselves when the life and thrift of the infested animal is seriously involved. But it takes greater argument to get the average stock owner to combat lice on animals that do not look lousy. Lousy spring animals were also lousy fall animals. The only difference is in the number of lice. Why not kill the few lice now that apparently do no harm, instead of the many that have done harm?

Fertilizer on Grass Lands

To keep up the organic matter of the soil and thereby improve the fertility it is important to maintain good soil. In other words, it is a mistake to keep mowing a field until the yields of hay are no longer profitable and then plow up the sod for some other crop. If a field is to be mown more than once a year it should be fertilized each year after the first with either manure or commercial fertilizer. Nothing is better for a pound of manure than manure, which may be applied when weather permits at any time during the winter. If manure is not available equal parts of nitrate of soda and field phosphate should be applied at the rate of 200 to 300 pounds of this mixture to an acre.

National Farmers' Union

Senator Capper of Kansas recently put into the Congressional Record resolutions and recommendations adopted by the National Farmers' union at its annual convention in Memphis, Tenn., as follows:

"First. We endorse the Kenyon-Anderson bill, which embodies important recommendations of the federal trade commission designed to correct the abuses and extortions that exist in the meat-packing industry and urge its immediate enactment by congress.

"Second. We endorse the Capper-Hersman bill to give the farmers of the republic the privilege of organizing and conducting collective bargaining associations, based on co-operative principles, but we ask that proper safeguards be included in such legislation to prevent corporations from taking advantage of its provisions.

"Third. We favor an amendment to the federal loan act that will enable a man without a farm but possessing an established reputation for

Not the least taken aback, Barnum gracefully acknowledged the introduction, and bowing to the assemblage

"Ladies and gentlemen, as you know, The Wizard of the North gives his first show Monday night and as you are now all my friends, I would like to have you accept passes to see the opening performance," and he began writing passes as fast as he could.

Anderson stood it as long as he could, but finally, with visions of having to do his first show to a deadhead audience, he finally weakened and confessed.

PRACTICE OF BRIDGE GRAFTING OFTEN SAVES INJURED AND DISEASED TREES

How a Wound is Repaired by Bridge Grafting.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Bridge grafting, the use of scions or small limbs to connect the cambium above and below a large wound or girdled strip, may be practiced successfully on almost any kind of fruit tree that can be propagated readily by grafting. Trees girdled by mice or rabbits, suffering from mechanical injuries, or from blight or other disease, can be saved in many cases by bridge grafting. The method also is useful when large areas of bark have been killed by sun scald and other injuries.

Effective Grafting.

To be effective, bridge grafting should be done in the spring before growth starts, though sometimes it can be done after growth starts if dormant scions for the purpose can be secured.

Prepare the wound in the tree by cutting away all dead tissue and thoroughly cleansing the injured parts. If possible, sterilize by washing with a solution of bichloride of mercury, copper sulphate, or some other antiseptic. The irregular edges of the bark above the girdle tract or wound should be cut back into an even edge, far enough from the wound to make certain that healthy cambium is under the bark.

For the grafting, select scions from wood of the previous season's growth, either branches which grew the preceding season or water sprouts that are only a year old. The scions should be a little longer than the space which is to be bridged, so they will arch slightly over the central part of the wound.

Bevel the scions at each end on the same side of the scion with a long sloping cut so that the wedge-shaped ends thus formed will be relatively thin and permit their being thrust well under the bark without danger of separating it unduly from the cambium at the points of insertion. The placing of the scions will be facilitated if the bark at the margins of the wound is slit for a short distance at the points where the ends are to be inserted.

Importance of Uniting Cambium.

In placing the scions it is of the greatest importance that the cambium of the scions which is exposed in the sloping cuts at the ends be brought into intimate contact with the cambium that lies under the bark at the union of scion and tree can occur only where the cambium layers of the two come together. The scions may be secured in their proper positions, if need be, by driving a small nail through each end into the trunk. This will aid in drawing the cambium of scion and trunk closely together.

The operation is completed by thoroughly covering the area occupied by the ends of the scions and the margins of the wound with grafting wax, strips of waxed cloth, or by some other means that adequately will prevent these parts from drying out. Some operators cover the entire wound, scions and all, with melted wax. Where the bridged portion is below or near the ground many operators conserve moisture by covering the grafts with earth.

Bridging From the Ground.

Where the wound is so large as to make ordinary bridge grafting impossible, another method of bridging may be used. Two-year-old trees are planted about the base of the injured tree and their tops grafted into its trunk above the girdled space, which has first been cleaned as in the other method. As the tops of the small trees are too large to manipulate readily in the manner described for scions, Y-shaped vertical grooves extending through the cambium are cut just above the wounded area in the bark of the tree to be treated. The tops of the small trees are shaped to correspond with these grooves. The two are then accurately fitted together in such a manner as to bring the cambium of one into contact with that of the other. Small nails may be driven through the tops of the trees into the trunk, to hold the parts firmly together. The wounds incident to joining the tops of the small trees to the trunk of the large one should be well covered with wax, to prevent drying out. Sometimes cord is tied around the trunk to aid in holding the tops of the young trees in proper position.

HENS DEVOUR MANY INSECTS

Fowls Help to Pay for Their Keep by Eating Many Garden and Orchard Pests.

Hens cost very little under farm conditions. They need grain, it is true; range also, some green food and a comfortable place to roost. But this need not cost very much on the farm. The fowls will eat many insects that might be injurious to crops, garden and orchard and in this way help pay for their keep.

ERADICATE BARBERRY TO SAVE GRAIN CROP

Common Plant Has Long Career of Crime Behind It.

Weed Has Destroyed Billions of Bushels of Wheat and Other Grains in Past—Wheat is Valuable and Needed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If you saw an anarchist with a blazing torch in his hand sneaking through the grass to your ripe wheat fields, it would tend to set you first, what would you do? If you saw several of his companions in crime sneaking to your granary with oil and matches, what would you do? If you saw a mob of wild-eyed anarchists running amuck with firebrands and destructive intent, what would you do? You would shoot the first, you would shoot as many of the small group as you could, and you would call for help to exterminate the whole breed.

The common barberry is a red-handed anarchist. It has a long career of crime behind it. It has a longer and more terrible career of crime before it if we don't put a stop to it. It has destroyed billions of bushels of wheat and other grains in the past. It will destroy billions of bushels in the future unless we destroy it. Dentists and destroyed the common barberry and stopped the stem rust. Many farmers in this country have destroyed their own bushes and rescued their crops from ruin by the rust.

The United States department of agriculture and the grain-growing states are eradicating the common barberry. Are you for it or against it? We cannot save the wheat and keep the barberry. The wheat is valuable and needed; give it a chance. The common barberry is not valuable and can be replaced by the beautiful Japanese barberry.

Write to the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., for information on how to do it.

CONSERVING VALUABLE SOIL

Each County in Iowa Loses Annually Six Inches of Soil From Top of 1,700 Acres of Land.

Problem for the class in intermediate arithmetic: Find the number of cubic feet in the top six inches of soil from 170,000 acres of land.

That sounds sufficiently unrelated to common experience to be a problem in the old-time school arithmetic, but, as a matter of fact, it is what Iowa has been losing every year in the water that flows over its fields. Specialists of the United States department of agriculture, who have worked in various sections of Iowa during the past several months, estimate that each county in Iowa—and there are an even hundred of them—loses annually six inches of soil from the top of 1,700 acres of land. Henceforth, these specialists think, not so much good soil will be washed away. The recent high prices of Iowa farm lands, injurious in some particulars, has been beneficial in causing Iowa farmers to realize that they cannot afford to permit such valuable stuff as dirt to be carried away in rain water.

THE TUCKERTON STREET LIGHTING CONTROVERSY

The following communications of the Mayor and Council and The Tuckerton Gas Company are in reference to the present street lighting controversy:

WHY THE STREET LIGHTS WERE NOT LIGHTED

So many different stories are being told as a reason for the streets not being lighted, I feel that the public and particularly the tax payers, should know: That the Mayor and Council actually refused to pay anything at all for the lights after December 2nd, and so notified the Gas Company in their letter of January 9th, printed herewith.

Please note they recommend a large increase to be raised to put gravel on the streets for the horses, but will not pay any more to light the streets for the women and children, who are obliged to go out at night.

THE TUCKERTON GAS CO.
 F. R. Austin, Pres.

Jan. 7th, 1920.
 To the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Tuckerton, Tuckerton, N. J., Gentlemen:

Replying to the letter of your Borough Clerk, under date of December 15th, 1919, in which he says the "Mayor and Council" decided to offer the Tuckerton Gas Co. the sum of $1825.00 for one year providing they would use the large Welsbach mantles in all lamps.

We are willing to make a contract to use these mantles on all lamps under a contract for five years as we would then be able to install the Welsbach time clock device for lighting and putting out the lamps. As Welsbach people will only install these lights for a period of five years or more, it would be impossible for us to give you these mantles under a one year contract.

We are willing to continue the lighting of the streets as at present for $1825.00 per annum, as stated in our letter to the Mayor and Council under date of December 1st, 1919.

You will please notice in that letter we stated that "We did not wish to discontinue the lighting of the lamps and until such time as Council decides to execute the new contract, the Company will continue lighting the streets on the basis of their new offer until the new contract went into effect."

We cannot accept any sum under $1825.00 for lighting the lamps as at

Not receiving any notice from you on this point we shall consider it an acquiescence on your part that we shall continue the lighting of the streets on the basis of $1825.00 from December 2nd, 1919, which was the date of expiration of the old contract.

 Mr. Harry Stille, Vice-Pres.,
 The Tuckerton Gas Co.
 Dear Sir:—

Replying to your letter of Jan. 7th, 1920, you state that the Welsbach people will not install the time clock for a period of less than five years. If we have not been informed wrong, they do not have installed them for a shorter period for Ocean County Gas Company, for instance at Barnegat, N. J.

We are not willing to pay $1825.00 for lighting the streets as they are now lighted, and we will not pay $1825.00 for lighting the streets as lighted now.

The Public Utility has no say what we shall pay for lighting the streets of the Borough of Tuckerton, as the power is vested in the Borough Officers.

Also I think you will find that you cannot force the Borough to pay for something that they did not order.

You no doubt know, that the street-lighting outfit in Tuckerton, N. J., belongs to the Tuckerton Gas Co. unless they should at some future time become a nuisance.

In conclusion would say that you can do as you please in regards to lighting the streets, but do not expect the Borough to pay you for it as it will not.

We do not think we have the right to order you to discontinue lighting as the property belongs to you.

Very truly yours,
 T. J. COWPERTHWAITTE,
 Mayor.

COMMUNICATION

STATEMENT OF FACTS TO THE TAXPAYERS OF TUCKERTON BOROUGH.

In Reference to Street Lighting
 You will find in the columns of The Tuckerton Beacon of this issue a corrected copy of a letter from Borough Council to The Tuckerton Gas Company, dated January 9th, 1920, which was published in part last week, a part being unintentionally omitted and which now appears in full to explain it's self.

BoBorough Council did not receive official notice of the Tuckerton Gas Company's proposed contract so that they could consider it until December 12th, 1919, on which date it was taken up in regular business form.

In answer to this, Borough Council made two propositions to Tuckerton Gas Company which the Tuckerton Gas Company have not shown to the public. They are as follows:

December 15, 1919.
 The Tuckerton Gas Co.,
 Dear Sirs:

Your proposed contract for lighting the streets of Tuckerton Borough was taken up for consideration by Borough Council on Friday evening, December 12th, 1919.

The Mayor and Council decided to offer The Tuckerton Gas Company the sum of $1825.00 for one year, providing they would use the large No. 71 Welsbach mantles on all lamps. They also agreed to offer as proposition No. two, that they would pay the sum of $1575.00 to have the streets lighted as they are at present with the privilege to add ten more lights at the rate of $25.00 per year per light for a one year term.

The difference in the matter seems to be the length of time the contract should be made for.

If Barnegat can have a contract for three years, which is a shorter time than five years referred to by the Gas Company, why should Tuckerton Borough not have the same.

Borough Council is willing to consider the difference in time between one and five years with the Gas Company.

The Mayor and Council have no say whether the Tuckerton Gas Company shall light the streets or not unless there is a contract between the Gas

LEONARD WOOD, ADMINISTRATOR

WOOD HAS VARIED CIVIL EXPERIENCE

ADMINISTRATIVE QUALITIES ARE TESTED AND PROVED IN HANDLING GREAT BUSINESS PROBLEMS.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

From time to time people ask, "What has been the administrative and business experience of Leonard Wood? What has been his experience with men outside of the army? What does he know about conditions in the different parts of the United States and in our overseas possessions? Has he any thorough knowledge of foreign affairs and of our foreign relations?"

The administrative qualities of Leonard Wood have been tested and proved. No American living has been tried more thoroughly than he in complex fields of constructive civil work, administrative work of the highest order which carried with it the necessity for the exercise of keen business acumen.

The republic of Cuba, built upon firm democratic foundations, is a monument to the administrative ability of Leonard Wood. In the Philippines he was to be found another monument to his statesmanship.

Leonard Wood graduated in medicine from Harvard University in 1884 and served for more than a year in one of the great hospitals, later to take charge of the charity departments in a section of the city of Boston where the poor lived.

Not long after the completion of Wood's work in Boston he became an assistant surgeon in the army, coming into contact with the western plainsman, the miner, the people generally, and giving much of his time to the work of assisting the Indians and to a study of the problems of irrigation and reclamation.

Then for Leonard Wood there came four years in California. He covered the state many times in pursuance of his duties and extended his field as occasion required into the states of the Northwest. Then for two years he was in service in the South, having headquarters in Georgia.

From the South Leonard Wood went to the city of Washington, where his work brought him into daily contact with Grover Cleveland. Then he had the same intimate relations with William McKinley and the men of his time.

Then came the Spanish war and the active campaign in Cuba as the colonel of the regiment of rough riders of which Theodore Roosevelt was the lieutenant colonel.

At the close of the Spanish war Leonard Wood's supreme administrative duties began. He was made the governor of the city of Santiago and a few weeks later of the entire eastern half of Cuba.

Under Wood profiteering was abolished, industry was built up, agricultural rehabilitation, hospitals organized, equipped and maintained, tens of thousands of people clothed and fed—and all this done in a thorough businesslike manner. It was done under conditions which arose from the fact that the people were impoverished to the point of starvation for the lack of the things which Wood quickly provided.

Then there came the rehabilitation of the municipalities, the establishment of schools, the opening of roads, the organizing of government in the provinces, the readjustment of taxation and of the courts, and the work of providing for the thousands of children made orphans by war or famine. There was more business and more

Company and Tuckerton Borough. The contract and date covered by The Public Utility award expired December 22nd, 1919.

THE TUCKERTON STREET LIGHTING CONTROVERSY

The following communications of the Mayor and Council and The Tuckerton Gas Company are in reference to the present street lighting controversy:

WHY THE STREET LIGHTS WERE NOT LIGHTED

So many different stories are being told as a reason for the streets not being lighted, I feel that the public and particularly the tax payers, should know: That the Mayor and Council actually refused to pay anything at all for the lights after December 2nd, and so notified the Gas Company in their letter of January 9th, printed herewith.

Please note they recommend a large increase to be raised to put gravel on the streets for the horses, but will not pay any more to light the streets for the women and children, who are obliged to go out at night.

THE TUCKERTON GAS CO. F. R. AUSTIN, Pres. Jan. 7th, 1920.

To the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Tuckerton, Tuckerton, N. J., Gentlemen:—

Replying to the letter of your Borough Clerk, under date of December 15th, 1919, in which he says the "Mayor and Council" decided to offer the Tuckerton Gas Co. the sum of $1825. for one year providing they would use the large Welsbach mantles in all lamps."

We are willing to make a contract to use these mantles on all lamps under a contract for five years as we would then be able to install the Welsbach time clock device for lighting and putting out the lamps. As Welsbach people will only install these lights for a period of five years or more, it would be impossible for us to give you these mantles under one year contract.

We are willing to accept lighting of the streets for $1825.00. Officers had noted our letter the moment they had sight of the farm. Now they are on toward it talking excitedly among themselves in animated speculation upon the cause and meaning of the catastrophe.

When at last they crossed the trampled garden and stood before the charred ruins of their master's bungalow, their greatest fears became convictions in the light of the evidence about them.

"The Arabs," Basul said, as his men clustered about him. The Waziri gazed about in mute rage for several minutes. Everywhere they encountered only further evidence of the ruthlessness of the cruel enemy that had come during the Great Bwana's absence and laid waste his property.

"What did they do with 'Lady'?" asked one of the blacks. They had always called Lady Grey-stoke thus.

"The women they would have taken with them," said Basul. "Our women and his."

A giant black raised his spear above his head and gave voice to a savage cry of rage and hate. The others followed his example. Basul silenced them with a gesture.

"This is no time for useless noises of the mouth," he said. "The Great Bwana has taught us that it is acts by which things are done, not words. Let us save our breath—we shall need it all to follow up the Arabs and slay them. If 'Lady' and our women live the greater the need of haste, and warriors cannot travel fast upon empty lugs."

present, and we would suggest that if you are not willing to pay that sum, that we make a mutual appeal to the Utilities Board of the State of New Jersey for them to say what advance over the old award we should have to cover the increased cost of labor and materials used.

We again call your attention to the fact that the $250.00 additional asked for the street lighting will be contributed by us entirely after this year by the increase in the gross receipts tax so that so far as the Borough revenues are concerned no more money will have to be contributed by the taxpayers than during the life of the old contract. If you are not willing to leave this matter to the Board of Public Utilities and do not expect to pay us the $1825.00 as specified in our former letter to you, then you owe it both to us and yourselves to pass a resolution and send a formal notice thru your Clerk that you wish us to discontinue the lighting of the streets.

Not receiving any notice from you on this point we shall consider it an acquiescence on your part that we shall continue the lighting of the streets on the basis of $1825.00 from December 2nd, 1919, which was the date of expiration of the old contract.

Very truly yours, TUCKERTON GAS CO. H. Stille, Vice-Pres.

STATEMENT OF FACTS TO THE TAXPAYERS OF TUCKERTON BOROUGH.

In Reference to Street Lighting You will find in the columns of The Tuckerton Beacon of this issue a corrected copy of a letter from Borough Council to The Tuckerton Gas Company, dated January 9th, 1920, which was published in part last week, a part being unintentionally omitted and which now appears in full to explain its self.

Borough Council did not suspend official notice of the suspension of the company's property as they were as zealously as though life or death to him.

Watching his companion. At last, convinced that he slept, Tarzan withdrew his hunting knife and commenced to dig a hole in the ground before him. With the blade he loosened up the earth, and with his hands he scooped it out until he had excavated a little cavity a few inches in diameter, and five or six inches in depth. Into this he placed the pouch of jewels. Werper almost forgot to breathe after the fashion of a sleeper as he saw what the ape-man was doing—the scarce repressed an ejaculation of satisfaction.

Tarzan became suddenly rigid as his keen ears noted the cessation of the regular inspirations and expirations of his companion. His narrowed eyes bored straight down upon the Belgian. Werper felt that he was lost—he must risk all on his ability to carry on the deception. He sighted, threw both arms outward and turned over on his back mumbling as though in the throes of a bad dream. A moment later he resumed the regular breathing.

Now he could not watch Tarzan, but he was sure that the man sat for a long time looking at him. Then, faintly, Werper heard the other's hands scraping dirt, and later patting it down. He knew then that the jewels were buried.

It was an hour before Werper moved again, then he rolled over facing Tarzan and opened his eyes. The ape-man slept, by reaching out his hand Werper could touch the spot where the pouch was buried.

For a long time he lay watching and listening. He moved about, making more noise than necessary, yet Tarzan did not awaken. He drew the sacrificial knife from his belt and plunged it into the ground. Tarzan did not move. Cautiously the Belgian pushed the blade downward through the loose earth above the pouch. He felt the point touch the soft, tough fabric of the leather. Then he pried down upon the handle. Slowly the little mound of loose earth rose and parted. An instant later a corner of the pouch came into view. Werper pulled it from its hiding place and tucked it in his shirt. Then he refilled the hole and pressed the dirt carefully down as it had been before.

Greed had prompted him to act, the discovery of which by his companion could lead only to the most frightful consequences for Werper. Already he could almost feel those strong, white fangs burying themselves in his neck. He shuddered. Far out across the plain a leopard screamed, and in the viding they would use the large No. 71 Welsbach mantles on all lamps. They also agreed to offer as proposition No. two, that they would pay the sum of $1575.00 to have the streets lighted as they are at present with the privilege to add ten more lights at the rate of $25.00 per year per light for a one year term.

The difference in the matter seems to be the length of time the contract should be made for.

If Barnegat can have a contract for three years, which is a shorter time than five years referred to by the Gas Company, why should Tuckerton Borough not have the same.

Borough Council is willing to consider the difference in time between one and five years with the Gas Company.

The Mayor and Council have no say whether the Tuckerton Gas Company shall light the streets or not unless there is a contract between the Gas Company and Tuckerton Borough. The contract and date covered by The Public Utility award expired December 22nd, 1919. T. J. COWPERTHWAIT, Mayor. JOS. H. BROWN, Borough Clerk.

CONCERNING BARNEGAT STREET LIGHTING CONTRACT

The following letter from R. F. Elberson, clerk of Union Township, (Barnegat) was received by F. R. Austin, president of the Tuckerton Gas Company, in answer to an inquiry about the street lighting contract of that town:

Barnegat, N. J., January 26, 1920.—Mr. F. R. Austin, Tuckerton, N. J. The contract for street lighting in Barnegat with Welsbach time clocks is for Five (5) years beginning February 1, 1919. Respectfully yours, R. F. ELBERSON, Township Clerk.

WOOD HAS VARIED CIVIL EXPERIENCE

ADMINISTRATIVE QUALITIES ARE TESTED AND PROVED IN HANDLING GREAT BUSINESS PROBLEMS.

By EDWARD B. CLARK. From time to time people ask, "What has been the administrative and business experience of Leonard Wood? What has been his experience with men outside of the army? What does he know about conditions in the different parts of the United States and in our overseas possessions and in our thorough knowledge of affairs and of our light?"

The administering of Mr. Leonard W. man had been a proved. It was to him they turned during the absence of Arab Bwana. To his hate for the hate for the white spy.

Within the village Werper passed hurriedly toward the silken tent of Achmet Zek. The Arab arose as his lieutenant entered. His face showed surprise as he viewed the tattered apparel of the Belgian.

"What has happened?" he asked. Werper narrated all, save the little matter of the pouch of gems which were now tightly strapped about his waist, beneath his clothing. The Arab's eyes narrowed greedily as his lieutenant described the treasure that the Waziri had buried beside the ruins of the Greystoke bungalow.

"It will be a simple matter now to return and get it," said Achmet Zek. "I will await the coming of the Waziri, and after we have slain them we may take our time to get the treasure—none will disturb it where it lies, for we have left none alive who knows of its existence."

"And the woman?" asked Werper. "I shall sell her in the north," replied the raider. "It is the only way now. She should bring a good price."

The Belgian nodded. He was thinking rapidly. If he could persuade Achmet Zek to send him in command of the party which took Lady Greystoke north it would give him the opportunity he craved to make his escape from his chief. He would forego a share of the gold if he could but get away unscathed with the jewels.

"Who will go north with the woman," he asked, "while we are returning for the gold that the Waziri buried by the bungalow of the Englishman?"

Birds' Speed Deceptive. An interesting check on some of those gunners who know their bird was flying 100 miles an hour because they had to lead him steel feet would be to paint a duck on a long board at the end of an express train running at, say 60 miles an hour, and let the gunner blaze away at the painted duck at normal duck-shooting ranges to check up the speed of the painted bird, with the "lead" necessary to give the charge to hit the wild duck alleged to have gone 100 miles per. Neither train nor long-winged honker gives a fair idea of the actual speed, because they are both large; the little bird often deceives.

Cork Hint. If you need a cork and cannot go to the store to get the right size, take an old cork and soak it in boiling water for fifteen minutes. It will then fit at any bottle.

MINUTES OF BOROUGH COUNCIL Tuckerton, N. J., Jan. 22, 1920. The regular meeting of Borough Council of the Borough of Tuckerton was called to order at 8 P. M. by the Mayor, T. J. Cowperthwaite. Councilmen present were: Messrs.

Gathered Smiles

Short but Sharp. "Why aren't you speaking to Mrs. Gadder?" "We had words." "Indeed!" "Yes—one apiece. She called me 'upstart' and I called her 'cat.'"

Used to Postponements. "Then you like working for a judge?" "You bet." "Doesn't he kick when you put things off?" "Now, he puts off half his own work every day."

Times Had Changed. "Strange Edith should invite that horrid grass widow to her wedding; she has such a disagreeable past." "Yes, my dear; but she's rich enough to furnish a very agreeable present."

Injurious. "Do you regard tobacco as injurious?" "Unquestionably," answered Mr. Meekton. "My smoking has done terrible damage to the parlor curtains and my wife's disposition."

No Need to Worry. Harold Hollownut—I dread old age with its wrinkled brow. Polly Pickles—Don't worry. There isn't room enough on your brow for more than one thin wrinkle.

Measured by Millinery. Patience—Is that her husband with her? Patrice—Yes. "How long has she known him?" "Not long. Only three hats!"

Strategy. Subeditor—Nothing doing in the news line today. Editor—All right. Put a pair of trousers on the office cat, photograph him, and we'll run a special on the oldest living man in the town.

Not So Chummy. "I'd pose husband and wife can be very chummy in a chummy roadster?" "Yes, but it's a bad place to quarrel in."

GOOD PROFIT IS FOUND IN KELP

Besides the Commercial Potash Many Valuable By-Products Are Turned Out.

EXPERIMENTS ARE SUCCESS

Plant Established by Government in California Demonstrates Profit Can Be Made With Production on Commercial Basis.

Washington.—Kelp, apparently, is going to be a profitable source of potash, an important fertilizer ingredient that the United States formerly obtained almost wholly from Germany. During the war an experimental kelp-potash plant was established by the United States department of agriculture at Sumnerland, Cal. Before the second year of operation was completed it had been determined not only that the plant could be made self-sustaining on the basis of potash alone, at $2.50 a unit, but that a number of valuable by-products could be profitably obtained. The chief of the bureau of soils, which bureau operates the enterprise, estimates that if the plant turns out $300 worth of potassium chloride a day, it may at the same time turn out $200 worth a day of the four principal by-products.

Submarine "Valley" Found Off Mendocino

San Francisco.—The approximate location and shape of an uncharted submarine valley, which caused the wreck of the steamer Bear with the loss of five lives in 1916, has been reported by Captain Lukins of the surveying vessel Wenonah of the Coast and Geodetic Survey. The axis of the valley is given as about ten miles to the north and west of Cape Mendocino, Cal., and its head about five miles off shore.

Bonds for Shelf Paper

Seattle, Wash.—How $4,000 of Seattle Improvement bonds, bought by a son for an income for his mother, were used by her to paper pantry shelves, was disclosed when some of the mutilated bonds were brought to the office of City Treasurer E. L. Terry to see if they had any value. According to the story told Accountant A. B. Lund, the bonds are the property of an elderly woman who has been living alone in Seattle several years. During a long illness five or six years ago she is said to have suffered a temporary lapse of memory, and when she recovered apparently had forgotten everything about the bonds and their value.

"Brownies" Quit British Service

London.—The last group of "brownies" has just left the government service, causing general lamentation. These were young messenger girls who were taken during the war and were called brownies because of their special brown dresses, which were supplied by authorities. It is said that they proved themselves much smarter and quicker than boys.

The first $4,000 of net income in excess of the exemption of $2,000 is subject to a normal tax of only 4 per cent, but all net income in excess of $6,000 is subject to a normal tax of 8 per cent. After the net income passes the figure of $5,000 the graduated or surtaxes set in, and in the case of an individual with a net income of $6,000 it is entitled to an exemption of $2,000, leaving $4,000 which is taxable. He pays a normal income tax of 4 per cent on $4,000, or $160, and as $6,000 exceeds $5,000 by $1,000 he is also obliged to pay the graduated or surtax of 1 per cent on this amount, or $10, making a total tax due the government of $170, as shown by the schedule.

Getting up into the range of higher salaries, take for example, an individual with a net income of $26,532.50. The tax on an income of this amount comes in between the tax on a net income of $25,000 and $28,000. Now, the schedule gives the tax on a net income of $26,000 as being $3,070. The amount in question exceeds $26,000 by $532.50, and this amount is subject to a total tax of 20 per cent (normal tax of 8 per cent and surtax of 12 per cent), or $1,065. This $1,065 added to the $3,070 tax on $26,000 makes the individual in question subject to a total tax of $4,135.

For a single man (whose exemption is $1,000), whose salary ranges between $2,000 and $5,000, an addition of $40 must be made to the total tax shown in the above table.

For each child under eighteen years a deduction of $8 must be made from the total tax shown above for incomes ranging above $2,000 up to $6,000. From $6,000 upward $10 must be deducted for each child under eighteen years.

Heavy penalties are imposed for those who fail to file their returns between January 1 and March 15. The full tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return, or if it is desired to make the payments in four installments the first must be paid by March 15, the second by June 15, the third by September 15, and the fourth by December 15. The period for which the income tax is assessed is the calendar year of 1919.

Every person whose income equaled or exceeded $1,000 for single persons or $2,000 for those who are married must file a return regardless of whether the income is large enough to require the payment of the tax.

The Archer, operated by the Pacific Mail Steamship company, carried a $6,000,000 cargo, including $3,000,000 in silk and $1,000,000 in tea.

The Modern Funeral

THE funeral director should, from the time he is called until the dismissal of the friends at the home, understand all that is to be done. He should diagram the proceedings that will be necessary before he starts in and should be able to see the end before he does the beginning.

He must know that all requests made and desires expressed have been executed and granted, and never depend on or take for granted that someone else will see to this or that.

He should be well informed regarding all funeral arrangements—relieving the family of a burden that should not be carried in addition to the one already upon them.

The funeral director should not be pompous and commanding, but quiet, unassuming, decisive, and quick of perception. He is not, or should not be, a respecter of persons.

The funeral director should know that the little curly-headed, prattling babe in the cottage of the poor widow shares as great a place in her heart as does the babe in the palace of the millionaire.

A LITTLE DAUGHTER SIXTEEN YEARS OLD
Several years ago the minister of a large Church in one of our Eastern cities was met on the street by one of his parishioners who said to him, "What's the matter, dominie, you look blue." "I am blue," said the clergyman, as he took a small book from his pocket. "I have been reading this book which tells of conditions among the Armenians. I have a little daughter sixteen years old, and I have been tormented with the thought of what it would mean if she did not have anything to eat. It breaks me all up."

He said. His imagination could see somebody's daughter, sixteen years old, chewing blades of grass or picking at refuse. The minister handed the book to his parishioner. The following Sunday the man who happened to be a bachelor with no little daughter sixteen years old, came forward after the service and said that he had read the book and that he could not sleep for thinking about it and he placed a check for several hundred dollars in his pastor's hand to help relieve the conditions which are almost as bad now as they were four years ago. From February 1st to February 22nd another effort will be made to save the Armenians from complete destruction. Money may be sent at any time to any of the County Officers representing Relief for the Near East. They are as follows: Chairman, Miss Cornelia B. Schwartz, of Lakewood; Vice-chairman, Mr. Arthur B. Smock, of Lakewood; Treasurer, Mr. W. H. Fisher, of Toms River; Director of Publicity, The Rev. C. P. Butler, of Lakewood. The State Headquarters are at 800 Broad street, Newark.

N. J. WETS LAUNCH FIGHT IN SENATE
Simpson Bill Permits Manufacture and Sale of Non-Beverage Liquor Measure Says it is Unlawful to Exceed Percentage in Beverage Products.

Legislation to permit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors for non-beverage purposes is provided in a measure offered in the Senate at Trenton Monday night, by Senator Simpson of Hudson. The bill contains a 5 per cent clause, but that applies only when the liquor is used for beverage purposes.

As Monday night's session was really the first regular session of the present Senate, the presentation of the Simpson measure, which was among the first bills introduced, brought forth no comment and was simply received. But the fact that the wet measures opened the business of the upper House is taken to indicate that the Democrats are losing no time in placing before the Assembly the legislation Governor Edwards pledged to the voters of the state throughout his campaign.

In the first bill Mr. Simpson would prevent the adulteration of beers and fixing misdemeanor as a penalty for violation of the proposed law. The bill would prohibit the use of any substitute for grain, hops or malt or by adding any adulteration such as grape sugar, glucose, etc. in the manufacture of beer. The proposed law is not to become effective while a state of war is in existence, but shall be operative after peace is declared.

Has Beverage Clause
The liquor measure introduced by the Hudson senator would permit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors for non-beverage purposes. It provides that it shall be unlawful to manufacture for beverage purposes, liquors containing a greater percentage of alcohol than 5 per cent, by weight, but that it shall be lawful to manufacture liquors for nonbeverage purposes.

Before beginning the manufacture of liquor for nonbeverage purposes, persons must first obtain a permit from the county clerk, for which a fee of $100 will be exacted.

It is incumbent upon the clerk to prepare the regulations for the manufacture of liquor for nonbeverage purposes, including the keeping of records indicating the quantity manufactured and its disposition. The bill also provides that an applicant must put up a bond of $10,000, and a violation of the law would result in the forfeiture of the bond. The place to manufacture must be open at all times to inspection by the sheriff of the county.

In addition to a fee for permission to manufacture the liquor it will be necessary to obtain a permit to sell, for which a fee of $10 is required and a bond of $1000. Records of sales shall not be open to public, but shall be at the disposal of the sheriff at all times.

The bill provides that it will not become effective until after a state of peace exists, and stipulates that the measure shall not be construed as a ratification of the eighteenth amendment.

Salary Increases Asked
Almost as soon as the Senate convened Senator Simpson began offering bills. His first measure provided for an increase in the salaries of Chancellor Walker and Chief Justice Gummere, of the Supreme Court. The increase asked is $3000, making the salaries of the chancellor and chief justice $16,000 and associate justices of the Supreme Court $15,000.

A joint session will sit next Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock for the purpose of electing a state comptroller to succeed Newton A. K. Bugbee, who was defeated in the gubernatorial contest by Governor Edwards. It is understood that Mr. Bugbee has a sufficient number of votes to re-elect him to the comptrollership.

Suffrage Measure Out
Just before adjournment of the Senate Monday night Senator Mackay's resolution providing for ratification of the woman suffrage amendment was reported favorably by the judiciary committee. It is expected that the measure will be considered on final passage next Monday night or Tuesday morning.
